BANKERS.—The A. J. S. Bank, Grenfell.
SECRETARY (pro tem.).—E. A. Baker, Esq., Grenfell.
BROKERS.—Messrs. M'Lennan and Co., Grenfell ———, Sydney.

This Company is formed for the purpose of working the auriferous ground situated at Emu Creek, near Grenfell, known as O'Brien's leased ground, consisting of two acres held under lease.

The right to the ground has been purchased for the sum of £2300, and the proprietors take five-sixths of the amount in shares, and one-sixth in cash.

The proprietors pay all preliminary expenses incurred for registration, advertising, &c., &c., up to the time when the Company is fully established; the amount so paid to be returned to them if the Company is formed.

In the event of a sufficient number of shares not being applied for, the deposits paid to be returned to the applicants free of any deduction whatever.

The Company to be managed by a Board of six Directors, to be elected by the shareholders. Every holder of 25 shares to be eligible as a Director. One vote to be allowed in respect of every five shares held by any shareholder. Directors to appoint all officers.

The Share List to close on the 1st December, 1869, and all shares not applied for up to that date to be retained at the option of the Directors for higher rates.

The deposits to be paid into the A. J. S. Bank, Grenfell.

Dividends will be paid per share, without reference to the amount called up, and, when practicable, will be paid monthly.

No transfer of the proprietors' paid-up shares will be allowed till the Share List is closed.

The ground above-mentioned is well known at Emu Creek as being peculiarly suitable to be worked with advantage by a company. There are two distinct reefs in the 2-acre lease, one of which averages 5 feet in width, the other has not yet been fully developed, but has been proved to be payable. Besides these there is a third reef coming into the ground, which it is reasonable to suppose could be found at a moderate depth by sinking. The ground has been opened up for the last two years, and during that time 3000 tons of stone have been sent to the mills, the average yield of gold having been 12 dwts. to the ton. The sum of £3100 has been paid in dividends since the first crushing. The workings are now going on at the main reef at the 120, at the 80, and at 30 feet levels, in each of which fair average stone is now being obtained. In addition to which there is a quantity of surface stone that would pay a company having its own machinery.

The ground is situated adjoining the Homeward Bound, the Lucknow, the Britannia, and Wilson's prospecting claims, and is therefore in close proximity to some of the richest reefs that have been worked on the Emu Creek Gold-field.

It has long been considered that such reef claims as O'Brien's leased ground require to be worked by the aid of powerful machinery, and upon the most approved methods and principles, and that this can only be accomplished by the aid of a company having abundant capital at its command.

Applications for shares to be made to Messrs. M'LENNAN and CO., Share Brokers, Grenfell, and Messrs. ——— Sydney.

FORM OF APPLICATION.

Gentlemen,—I request that you will allot me ——— shares in the above Company, and I herewith enclose the amount of 5s. per share; and I agree to accept that or any less number that may be allotted to me, and to pay the sum of 5s. per share immediately on allotment, and execute the deed of association when called upon, and in all respects to abide by the terms set forth in the accompanying Prospectus; failing which I agree that the amount enclosed and the shares allotted to me shall become forfeited to the Company.

METROPOLITAN BREWERY,
119, Castlereagh-street, Sydney.

HENFREY and TOOHEY, having entered the field as Brewers, intimate to their friends and the general public, that they are prepared to supply Ale, having all the good qualities of the imported without its narcotic influence. The Ale brewed in the neighbouring colonies has almost superseded the imported, being more suited to the climate.

H. and T., seeing no reason why such should not be the result here, confidently anticipate that the eradication of the existing prejudice against ale of colonial production will be only a question of time, and that New South Wales, in this as in most other articles, may be entirely independent of the home market.

A CARD.

In making this her latest appeal to the ladies of Sydney, feeling confident that she has hitherto been so far fortunate as to give unexceptionable satisfaction, Mrs. CAFFYN solicits a continuance of their favours, assuring them that whatever skill she may possess (which her long experience in the highest families in England may surely guarantee) will be bestowed upon them.

Mrs. Caffyn would at the same time respectfully inform them that the ladies' room is under her sole personal superintendence.

That every necessary to the toilet will be provided, and that mail by mail she receives the latest models from London and Paris, so that the ladies here may be able (almost contemporaneously) to adopt the coiffure of St. James and the Tuileries.

Mrs. CAFFYN,
Court Hairdresser,
315, George-street,
Sydney.

MR. PAUL, of Paris, has the honour to inform the Ladies of Sydney that he wishes to give Lessons in the art of Hairdressing on the latest fashion. The ladies who would honour him with their confidence will please address to him at the Hotel de France, 416, George-street, Sydney. Reference in Paris—La Princesse Mathilde; references in London—the Duchess of Sutherland and the Duchess of Buccleuch.

TO THE REPRESENTATIVES of the late WILLIAM ERWIN, Blacksmith, of Eastern Creek, Western Road, deceased.—Take NOTICE, that if a Bay FILLY, branded WE or WF on near shoulder, is not removed from my paddocks within a month from this date she will be SOLD to pay the agistment charges thereon.

THE PERFECTION OF PREPARED COCOA. MARAVILLA COCOA.
Sole proprietors,
TAYLOR BROTHERS, London.

The Cocoa (or Cacao) of Maravilla is the true Theobroma of Linnæus. Cocoa is indigenous to South America, of which Maravilla is a favoured portion. Taylor, Brothers, having secured the exclusive supply of this unrivalled cocoa, have, by the skilful application of their soluble principle and elaborate machinery, produced what is so undeniably the perfection of prepared cocoa, that it has not only secured the preference of homœopaths and cocoa-drinkers generally, but many, who had hitherto not found any preparation to suit them, have, after one trial, adopted the Maravilla Cocoa as their constant beverage for breakfast, luncheon, &c.

"A SUCCESS UNPRECEDENTED."
See following Extract from the Globe of May 14, 1868.
"Various importers and manufacturers have attempted to attain a reputation for their prepared Cocoas, but we doubt whether any thorough success had been achieved until Messrs. Taylor, Brothers discovered the extraordinary qualities of 'Maravilla' Cocoa. Adapting their perfect system of preparation to this finest of all species of the Theobroma, they have produced an article which supersedes every other cocoa in the market. Entire solubility, a delicate aroma, and a rare concentration of the purest elements of nutrition, distinguish the Maravilla Cocoa above all others. For Homœopaths and invalids we could not recommend a more agreeable or valuable beverage."
Sold in packets only by all Grocers, of whom also may be had Taylor, Brothers' original Homœopathic Cocoa and Soluble Chocolate. Steam Mills, Brick-lane, London.

PARLIAMENT OF NEW SOUTH WALES.

LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.

FRIDAY.

THE SPEAKER took the chair at half-past 3 o'clock.

LOCAL PATRONS TO PUBLIC SCHOOLS.

Mr. GARRETT asked the Colonial Secretary,—"1. Has the Council of Education any established rule upon which they act in the appointment of local patrons to Public schools? 2. If any, what is it? 3. Does the Council keep a record of the recommendations upon which they make their appointments?"

Mr. SAMUEL replied: 1. As a general rule the names of gentlemen to form Public School Boards are submitted to the Council of Education by the Inspector of the district where the school is situated. But occasional names are submitted as additional members by the Public School Board itself, or by the member of Parliament representing the district, or by residents. In such cases either the Public School Board or the Inspector is referred to before the names are transmitted to the Government for appointment. 2. All letters submitting names for Public School Boards are recorded in the office of the Council of Education.

DEFACED SILVER COINAGE.

Mr. WALKER asked the Colonial Treasurer,—"Are the Government taking—or do they intend taking—any steps to remedy the inconvenience to trade and the general public, in the refusal of the banks and others to receive in payment the defaced and worn silver coinage at present in circulation?"

Mr. SAMUEL replied, that the Government had taken steps to remedy the evil.

GOLD-FIELDS REGULATION BILL.

Mr. WINDEYER asked the Secretary for Lands,—"1. Was the draft of the Gold-Fields Regulation Bill, with which the Secretary for Lands expressed dissatisfaction when answering a question of the hon. member for the Hawkesbury, yesterday, prepared by either of the Parliamentary draftsmen, Mr. Oliver, or Mr. Wilkinson? 2. By whom was such draft bill prepared?"

Mr. FORSTER denied that he had expressed dissatisfaction. The draft bill was, he believed, prepared by Mr. Casdell, but it would be unfair to that gentleman to leave it to be inferred that he intended any complaint against any particular draftsman, his object being simply to explain the delay and to relieve the Government from blame.

The other questions on the paper were postponed until Wednesday next.

PRESBYTERIAN CONGREGATIONS, MAITLAND.

Mr. DODDS moved for leave to bring in a bill to enable the trustees of certain church lands at Maitland to appropriate the income derivable from the same for the benefit of the Presbyterian congregations of Maitland East and Maitland West, and to confer extended powers of leasing on the trustees and for other purposes.

Agreed to.

PAPERS.

Mr. FORSTER laid on the table of the House,—Sites for cities, towns, and villages; sites for future villages; lands reserved from sale for water supply; return to order, road from Terrara to South Coast road; return to order, road from Alnwick to Raymond Terrace road.

Mr. ROBERTSON laid on the table by-laws of the borough of Marrickville.

The documents were ordered to be printed.

Mr. ROBERTSON moved that this House at its rising do adjourn until Wednesday next.

Dr. LANG said that it was not his intention to vote against the motion; but he wished to enter his protest against the practice of allowing the whole business of society to be interrupted, and the great proportion of those who received wages to be thrown off their usual employments for purposes which had not been recognised until the last few years. He thought that the holiday on the occasion of her Majesty's birthday was a matter of great propriety, but we had now advanced so far in the process of flunkeyism that we made a holiday of the birthday of the heir apparent of the Crown, a practice which was unknown to our forefathers and those who had lived in the earlier part of the present century. The Government had proclaimed Tuesday as a general holiday. The Governments of other nations—of Italy, of Spain, and he believed even of Mexico—had been diminishing the number of holidays.

Mr. JOHN STEWART also entered his protest against this proposed holiday. Before we adjourned the House until next Wednesday, he should like to know for what purpose we adjourned it. Had the Government so much time that they did not know what to do with it? During last session the Government was asked whether they intended to proclaim St. Patrick's day a holiday. They would not say yes or no; but they said that they intended to make some fresh arrangement as to holidays. Where were those arrangements? They had made none. In addition to St. Andrew's day and all the other days, we were now to have a Prince of Wales day. Working men were not only thrown out of employment by these holidays, but all the children attending the Public schools, some thousands in number, were deprived of their education for the day. For what purpose was all this? To do honour to the Prince of Wales, to honour him for a thing he could not help, with which he had nothing whatever to do. (Laughter.) Ministers did not do this out of mere caprice. They had a purpose in it, and that was to keep the Civil servants sweet. These Civil servants would lose nothing by the holiday. They would get the pay without the work, which was no doubt very pleasant and gratifying to all parties. He hoped there was sufficient right feeling in the House to prevent the passing of this motion. He had observed that the Governor on his tour through the colony, had given a holiday to the children of every Public school he visited. Was that the act of a good and wise Governor, to relieve the children of their tasks, as if their tasks did them harm? This proceeding on the part of the Government now was similarly wrong. He should certainly divide the House upon this motion.

Mr. FORSTER accused the hon. member for Illawarra of injustice. This holiday was no novelty. It had been observed for several years back, and thus it was unfair to charge the Government with having introduced a new course of action for political purposes. The present Government deserved credit for abolishing holidays which had until lately been observed on several saints' days. It was also unfair to say that the Governor had given holidays to the children of the Public schools. The Governor had no power to give the children holidays, but the holidays were given by the teachers and local Boards at the Governor's request. The hon. member should bring the matter before the Council of Education. He (Mr. Forster) quite agreed that the holidays were too numerous, and did not think that the granting of a public holiday by the Government should be a reason why the House did not sit. If the hon. member for Illawarra divided against the motion, he (Mr. Forster) should vote with him.

Sir JAMES MARTIN said he should not have risen to speak upon this occasion were it not for the action which had been lately taken by certain busybodies at home—(who were said to be gentlemen of great influence, though whence they derived their influence he did not know)—who assumed to themselves the right of representing the feeling of these colonies. These busybodies had, he believed, issued circulars to the various colonial Governments in reference to New Zealand affairs, with the view of inducing them (the Governments) to send representatives to a congress to place colonial matters in a better light. Some persons at home, commenting upon the action of these busybodies, had said that these colonies were so dissatisfied with the British Government that they would probably throw themselves upon the protection of the United States of America. He (Sir James Martin) wished to cast all the ridicule he could upon so outrageous and ridiculous a proposition. (Cheers.) He did not believe there was one man in the whole community who would give his assent to such a proposal as that. (Cheers.) If we were not to manage our affairs as an independent community he did not think there was anyone who would be willing to secede from the great Empire to which we belonged for the purpose of uniting ourselves to any other Government. (Cheers.) Many thousands of our people were born in the mother country, many were descended from those who were born there, we spoke the same language, enjoyed the same Constitution, and had grown up with all the traditions of the English; whatever our political opinions might be, whether Radical or Conservative, that did not matter in the least. (Cheers.) We had a far higher respect for the home country than for any other country whatever. (Cheers.) He was not aware whether any circular had reached the Government from these presumptuous busybodies whose impertinence surpassed anything he had ever heard of. He was not aware whether they had had the impudence to write to this, or to any other Government. The Government had not stated that they had received any communication. But whether they had done so or not, he was glad to have had the opportunity afforded him, on the eve of the departure of the mail, to say in this public and emphatic manner, on behalf of this community, that we repudiated the action of these impertinent meddlers. (Cheers.) We had on many occasions had reason to be dissatisfied with the course the Home Government had taken; there was not one of us who, although he might have no interest in the colony of New Zealand, but must feel the greatest dissatisfaction in reference to the action of the Home Government with regard to that colony. (Hear, hear.) We knew, and the Home Government ought to know, that its relations with these colonies were beneficial to both sides, and that no more fatal policy could be indulged in than that (adopted, it was said, for economical reasons) of leaving the colonies to their own devices. (Cheers.) He hoped that, if such a course was proposed in the Imperial Parliament, it would receive no countenance from any of these colonies. (Cheers.) He was sure that such a course would never receive countenance from us. (Cheers.)

Mr. R. STEWART agreed with hon. members who objected to holidays being so frequent, as he considered that holidays were the cause of much idleness and dissipation, while they prevented industrious men from following their occupations. The less holidays we had the better. He considered that Sir James Martin had spoken the sentiments of the community in reference to the mother country. The feeling of the people was determinedly British. (Hear, hear.) This House should disclaim any agreement with the busybodies to whom the hon. member had referred.

Mr. GARRETT pointed out that whatever conclusion the House came to there would be a public holiday. Out of consideration for the officers of the House there should be an adjournment. There would be no House on Tuesday whether hon. members passed the motion or not; and it would be uselessly selfish to make the officers attend. He quite agreed with what Sir James Martin had said with reference to the action of certain busybodies in London. Although he did not look forward with any fear to the separation of this colony from Britain, but when it did come we should start upon our course independently, and certainly should never seek the protection of the United States. (Cheers.)

Mr. WILSON accused hon. members who voted against the motion of selfishness in trying to deprive the officers of the House of a holiday. There would be no House on Tuesday in any case, and why should the officers be compelled to attend? With regard to the objection which had been taken by the hon. member for East Sydney (Mr. Stewart), he (Mr. Wilson) might say that if he thought the holiday would prove a hardship to the labouring classes, he would oppose the motion. But his own conviction was that the working classes of this colony were fond of holidays and enjoyed them. It was left to the discretion of working men whether they should take a holiday or not—because a holiday was proclaimed, working men were not compelled to leave their work. He thought the sentiments which had been given expression to by Sir James Martin would find an echo from the mind of every person in the colony. He firmly and conscientiously believed that it was no lip service on the part of the people of Australia when it was said that they were an intensely loyal people.

Mr. WINDEYER said he quite concurred with what had fallen from the hon. and learned member for the Lachlan and other hon. members with regard to the contempt with which the people of this colony generally regarded the kind of movement that was going on in England, and which was countenanced in many quarters by the Press. He wished to have placed on record his utter contempt for those busybodies in England who seemed to think they could better manage the affairs of this colony than we could ourselves. The greatest objection, in his mind, was the tendency of the English Press to regard those gentlemen as colonists. He could not understand how gentlemen who had made fortunes in these colonies, and had gone home to spend the remainder of their lives, could be regarded as colonists, or how they could be animated with the true spirit of colonists. He protested against those gentlemen who had left the colony which had made them what they were, being considered as colonists. Although we had left the home country, we were still animated with the same feelings of love to that country, and might well adopt for our motto, the motto of the Sydney University—Mens sidere eadem mutato—we have changed our land, but our hearts remain unchanged.

Mr. ROBERTSON said that in moving the motion he felt that he should in no way be committing the House to any new holiday. On the contrary, the Prince of Wales birthday had been made a holiday for several years past. He took exception to the allegation of the hon. member for Illawarra, that the Government had not kept their promise respecting public holidays. The Government had considered that question and had knocked off all the saints' days. With regard to the other matter introduced by the hon. and learned member for the Lachlan, he could only say that he entirely and thoroughly concurred in every observation which had been made by the hon. and learned gentleman as to the interference of certain gentlemen in England calling themselves representatives of the colony. He was at a loss to conceive in what way those gentlemen could be considered representatives. He was, however, glad to be able to inform the House that Lord Granville seemed to take precisely the same view of the action of those gentleman as hon. members of that House seemed to take. In his despatch, Earl Granville expressed his objection to the line of conduct that was being pursued by those gentlemen in England. He (Mr. Robertson) at first thought it would be a proper matter to lay before Parliament; but on further consideration it appeared to him that by so doing he should be attaching too great importance to it. That was the only reason he did not bring it before the House. It might be that the time had arrived when the colonies should have some representatives in the mother country. But he did not think it was desirable that such a question should be settled in any way through the action taken by these gentlemen in England. If it was done at all, it ought to be done in the colonies by a conference of representatives from each. He might also mention that the Government of this colony sympathised with the position in which the colony of New Zealand had been placed, and whenever an opportunity had presented itself, this Government had done all in its power to aid the New Zealand Government.

The question was then put and agreed to on the following division:—

CHURCH LANDS AT MAITLAND.

Mr. DODDS moved for leave to bring in a bill to enable the trustees of certain Church lands at Maitland to appropriate the income derivable from the same for the benefit of the Presbyterian congregations of Maitland East and Maitland West, and to confer extended powers of leasing on the trustees, and for other purposes.

The motion was agreed to, and the bill was brought in and read a first time.

ROAD TO GLADESVILLE.

Mr. LYONS moved that the Speaker leave the chair, and the House resolve itself into Committee of the Whole to consider an address to the Governor, praying that his Excellency will be pleased to cause to be placed upon the Supplementary Estimates, a sum not exceeding £400, to complete the Road to Gladesville, via Balmain and Five Dock, so as to render available an expenditure already made by the Government of £2200 on this route.

The motion was agreed to, and the House went into committee.

Mr. LYONS said that for the last ten years the inhabitants in the Northern bank of the Parramatta River had been agitating for more direct communication with the Metropolis. It was at one time contemplated by Government to accept the surrender of the Field of Mars Common, with the view of selling the land and devoting the proceeds towards the construction of a bridge across the Parramatta River. But the scheme fell through. A sum of money was subsequently placed on the Estimates for the construction of a road, and for providing punts, punt houses, &c. The Municipality of Hunter's Hill being much interested in the matter, the Municipal Council volunteered to spend a sum of money to assist the Government in this work. A sum of money was voted for the construction of the road. Part of the road went through private property, the owners of which had to be paid compensation. After £2200 had been spent in that way the road was carried as far as Iron Cove. The people of Hunter's Hill and Balmain, he believed, had had repeated interviews with the Government, and urged the necessity of completing this road, but the Government had declined to carry it beyond the spot indicated at Iron Cove. He believed the objection of the Government was to spend this money within a municipality. The municipality, on the other hand, said that it was a Government scheme—that they did not ask for it—that it was no great benefit to them, and that they had no funds in hand to spend in this way. The Government had also some measure of reason on their side; but, having planned the road and spent a considerable sum of money on it, he thought they should now carry out their scheme in its entirety.

Mr. SAMUEL expressed his surprise that this motion was supported by some gentlemen who had taken part in the government of the country. If motions of this kind were admitted, they might be carried on throughout the whole session; and it would be impossible for any Government to judge of the requirements of the country if such motions were received after the House had been into Committee of Ways and Means. He understood that this road went through a municipality which was liberally endowed by the Government; and to grant sums of this kind, under such circumstances, would be only an indirect way of getting an additional endowment. This was an expenditure which the Government, for reasons which were sufficient to them, declined to submit to Parliament; and he supposed that, having refused to place it on the Estimates, they were now bound to resist this motion.

Mr. WILSON said that this matter had occupied the attention of Governments since 1860. He believed it was highly desirable that this road should be made to Sydney, but the great difficulty seemed to arise from a small portion of the road going through the municipality of Balmain. He did not see how it was possible for the Government to refuse to make roads through any other municipalities if they made the road through this. He could not agree with the hon. the Colonial Treasurer in regard to the exception he had taken to the proposition of a motion of this kind. He could mention many instances where sums had been placed on the Estimates by resolutions of the House. [Mr. SAMUEL: I do not dispute that; I say it is an objectionable course.] It might be in a country like England, but in a young country like this it was impossible to avoid it altogether. The expenditure on this road had been very heavy. A great portion of the money had been paid for compensation. Still there must be a road here some day, and if the land had not been taken at the time, it would now, no doubt, have to be paid for more highly.

Mr. OATLEY said he would vote for the additional £400, believing that it was necessary to make valuable the large amount of money which had been already expended on the road.

Mr. FARNELL said that this money was asked to complete a road which would benefit persons living on either side of the municipality of Balmain, and which was not for the exclusive benefit of that municipality. This road was a parish road, and passed through a portion of the municipality on which there were no houses. It would shorten the distance between Sydney and Gladesville by four miles. The Government, having laid out so much money on the road, had admitted the desirability of it, and they were therefore bound to complete it. The Treasurer spoke of this and similar votes disarranging his estimate of expenditure, but the fact was that it would not appear on the Estimates until next year. This road would be of little use for passenger traffic, but he thought that it was likely to be largely used by growers of fruit, vegetables, hay, and other produce. He thought that the Treasurer ought to withdraw his opposition.

Mr. R. STEWART said that whether the original outlay was judicious or not he could not offer an opinion; but he thought that the expenditure was necessary to make available the amount already voted. He thought that the municipality of Balmain could not benefit by this road, and that they offered quite sufficient when they expressed their willingness to keep the road in repair after it had been made by the Government.

Mr. LUCAS was a member of the committee which recommended the establishment of the punts on the Parramatta River and the formation of the road in preference to the construction of a costly bridge, as was then proposed. The question now was whether the large sum already laid out was to be wasted, or turned to advantage by the expenditure of this small additional sum. The road opened up a large country on the other side of the Parramatta River, and was not likely to be of much service to Balmain. He demurred to the dictum of the Colonial Treasurer that hon. members had no right to bring forward motions of this kind. No doubt, these motions were inconvenient; but if the House said that the expenditure was necessary, and voted the money, then the Government must find it.

Mr. CUMMINGS said that the income which would be derivable to the Government by traffic across the Glebe Island Bridge would fully repay this trifling outlay necessary to complete the road. He knew that where the main roads passed through municipalities the Government made them; this, though not a main road, was worthy of great consideration, and he thought the residents beyond the Parramatta River were entitled to this sum.

Mr. FORSTER thought that this was a very inopportune time for pressing on a vote of this kind. He had several reasons for objecting to this motion. He had a personal interest in this road—a very remote one, it is true, but still he possessed property which would be benefited by the formation of this road. But it was a question whether the House should deviate from the principle laid down, to the effect that money should not be expended on roads which passed through private property within a municipality. And however important this road might be, it could scarcely be called a main road, because there was little traffic upon it beyond Pennant Hills. There was but one little piece of the road which wanted making, and the question was, were we to deviate from the principle of making the municipalities spend their money upon the improvement of the roads? He did not see why the municipality of Balmain should be placed in any better position than other municipalities. That municipality said they had no interest in the construction of this road, that the greater part of the rateable property was a long way off the road, and that the money spent upon it would be money thrown away so far as they were concerned. This was not a correct view, because, from the increased traffic which would follow the opening of the road, not only Sydney but Balmain would largely benefit. It could not fail to increase the value of property in Balmain; and as an endowment was given to the Balmain municipality for an expenditure of this kind, they should make the road themselves. Though the course he was about to take would be highly unpopular, he should vote against the motion.

Mr. BURNS said it was quite as easy for the Opposition to propose this money should be put on the Estimates for 1870 as for the Treasurer to say that taxation should be removed in 1870. He should vote for the motion, because he thought the expenditure was very proper.

Mr. WINDEYER also defended the Opposition from the charge of inconsistency. He did not see that the hon. member for Central Cumberland showed any inconsistency in bringing forward this motion, notwithstanding the course that hon. gentleman had taken when the House was in Committee of Ways and Means. It appeared to him that this expenditure was highly desirable. It had always struck him as being strange that, after the large amount of money which had been expended upon this road, this small sum of £400 should not be expended in order to make this road available.

Mr. SAMUEL expressed his opinion that hon members of the Opposition showed great inconsistency in supporting this motion, considering that they refused to vote any Estimates at all when in Committee of Ways and Means.

Mr. LACKEY thought that this work ought to be done by the Balmain Municipality. But that municipality having declined to incur the expenditure, and the Government having already expended nearly £3000 upon the road, the question now was, whether or not the road should be left in an unfinished state, when the expenditure of a small amount of money would make it available for traffic. Although the practice of expending money under such circumstances was objectionable, he thought the House would be doing right to agree to the motion.

Mr. SUTHERLAND supported the motion. The Government had already, at a cost of some £2200, brought the road close to the municipality of Balmain. Whether or not that expenditure was justifiable was not the question which the House had now to consider. The money had been expended. The sum of £400 was now required to make the road available, and he thought the money would be well laid out under the circumstances. The fruit and produce growers on the north side of the Parramatta line would be benefited, and the opening of the road would also have the effect of increasing the tolls at the Abattoir bridge. The Government would, he thought, by the increase of these tolls reap more money than would pay the interest on the £400. He did not think the municipality of Balmain was to be blamed for not incurring the expenditure of this money, as the construction of the road would not enhance the value of property in that municipality for many years to come.

Mr. WILSON said if there had been any one to blame in the expenditure of money in the formation of this road, it was the Parliament, and not the late Government. The money was placed on the Estimates on the representation of a number of gentlemen interested in the district. It was represented to him that so anxious were the people in the district to have the road that some of the landowners in the district would give the land through which the road was to pass; but some of the parties had since applied for and received compensation. He might have been somewhat to blame in placing too much confidence upon the representations which were made to him. He thought it would be a great advantage to have the road opened up; but there was a principle involved in such expenditure as was proposed by the motion—the principle as to whether Government should be compelled to make roads through private property in municipalities. It was for the House to say whether the new principle embodied in this motion should be carried out or not.

The resolution was put, and carried on the following division:—

METROPOLITAN DISTRICT COURT.

FRIDAY.

HAMILTON V. STRANGE.

This was an interpleader suit, in which Mr. W. Peisley was the claimant. It appeared that plaintiff obtained a verdict last month against the defendant, and subsequently issued execution. The claimant then gave notice to the bailiff that the property on defendant's premises levied by him was his property, and upon receipt of this notice the interpleader summons was taken out. Some time after, the defendant became insolvent, and after insolvency the claimant (through his attorney) withdrew his claim. Mr. T. B. Watson, the attorney for the defendant, now applied for costs, on the ground that no particulars of claim had been filed. Mr. P. J. Hourigan, who appeared for the claimant, opposed the application, except so far as £1 16s. 4d. bailiff's costs, being the amount which Mr. Peisley had, through his attorney, stated his willingness to pay.

ROBINSON V. ADKIN.

This was an action brought by a Mr. Robinson against a Mr. Adkin, both of Sydney, in respect of certain goods sold and delivered. Plaintiff claimed £2 4s. 4d. Defendant admitted that he owed out of the sum as much as 30s. This was proved against him by an account furnished and not disallowed. Verdict for plaintiff, £1 10s. The plaintiff conducted his own case. Mr. Greer appeared for the defendant.

SCOTT V. STEPHENS.

This was an action brought by Arthur Scott against George Stephens for the recovery of £7 10s., for work and materials specified in the plaint. The action turned upon the nature of the terms of a contract under which the work had been done and the materials supplied. Mr. Evans conducted the case for the plaintiff, and Mr. Doak appeared for the defendant. The defence was that the defendant was not specially liable to plaintiff but to the contractor for the work. Verdict for the plaintiff, £7 10s.

CHAPMAN AND ANOTHER V. STEPHENS.

This was an action brought by the contractors who had been engaged in the building for and in respect of which the work mentioned in the last case had been done. It was to recover for work done by the contractors outside their original contract. Verdict for the plaintiffs in the amount claimed—£9 3s. 1d. Mr. Evans for plaintiff, Mr. Doak for defendant.

WATTS V. NORTH.

This was an action brought by Mr. James Watts against J. B. North, for money had and received, and detenue. Plaintiff claimed £10. This claim arose out of an alleged overcharge and detenue, made by defendant as against Mr. Watts, for and in respect of a sale by auction, effected by defendant, of goods belonging to plaintiff. Several auctioneers were examined to prove what was the custom of their trade in regard to the charges made by North, which were affirmed by counsel for the plaintiff to have been excessive. The Judge considered that there had been four overcharges made by the defendant. The verdict of the Court was for £7 4s. 6d.

CENTRAL POLICE COURT.

Elizabeth, the wife of William Scott, residing at St. Paul's College, deposed that, on last Monday or Tuesday three weeks, she employed the prisoner, and delivered to her as a needlewoman, seven shirts and two skirts to be repaired; she was to bring them home as soon as they were repaired; no time was named; the articles produced in Court (by a pawnbroker) are the same, and are worth 20s. Matthew Connolly, of Newtown, pawnbroker, deposed that at various times, on and after the 12th October, the articles produced were pledged to him by the prisoner; she said that they belonged to herself, and that they were bought at auction; she said that in reply to a question he put to her on seeing the name of Scott upon one of the articles. To be imprisoned three months.

On the summons paper were twenty cases, of which three were dismissed, other three were postponed, and six were not prosecuted. Nicholas Stapleton, charged with fraudulent insolvency, appeared pursuant to postponement. One other witness was examined, and defendant was committed for trial, but admitted to the same bail as before. Six persons were fined 10s. each for keeping unregistered dogs. In Archer v. Michael Purtell, cabman, was brought before the Court in custody, charged with assaulting R. Mitchell, special constable, stationed on the A. S. N. Co.'s Wharf. Prosecutor deposed that he was coming off the wharf when prisoner called out to him, and on turning round he received a blow over the eye from prisoner's fist. The Bench sentenced prisoner to pay a penalty of £5, in default, two months' incarceration.

Mary Boddy was charged on summons with neglecting to comply with an order of the Court for the payment of £4 5s., due to James Curran. The Bench ordered defendant to pay the amount claimed within seven days, in default levy and distress, or seven days' gaol.

VIA California we have news from the Atlantic States to the 9th September; though no later than the intelligence received by telegram via Galle, the particulars are more detailed, and several items have not before reached us. We quote from the San Francisco journals.

THE PENNSYLVANIA COAL MINE CALAMITY.

New York, September 7.—A special from Scranton, Pennsylvania, says there were not less than 138 nor more than 150 people in the Avondale mine when the accident occurred. Some men who went down the shaft reported the fire in the furnace all out. The presumption is that when the fire broke out the miners kept their senses. Having observed the fire, they fled to the upper chambers, closing the doors behind them. Supposing this to be true, the rescuers proceeded on the simple plan of forcing fresh air into the mine. This continued till 4 o'clock in the afternoon, when a party of men penetrating 200 feet, on opening the door, made the discovery that the fire was still burning in the furnace, which had been ignited by the coal piled outside. These men, understanding the situation, saw in a moment that all hope was at an end; that all that could be done was to drag the lost men from their fiery tomb to Christian burial. A change of operation was then decided on, and it was determined to direct their immediate efforts to extinguish the fire. Means are now arranged to that end, and to-night will be occupied in deluging the mine with water.

Scranton (Pa.), September 8.—At 15.5 a.m. four men went down the shaft. They were gone thirty-five minutes and discovered the dinner cans and caps. At 6.30 four more went down and were gone thirty minutes. They discovered the whole company of miners dead, in the east side plane. Preparations are making to send down six gangs of four men each. The bodies will be brought out as rapidly as possible. The foul air does not interfere to any great extent. At 7 30 one of the gangs reported that they went up the plane, just beyond which a barrier was met, consisting of a car packed around with coal and clothing. This was cleared away, and proceeding a little further another barrier was met, nearly complete, constructed as the first one. A man was found upon the outside, where he had been at work laying up the wall. All was completed save a small aperture, sufficient to admit the passage of a human body. It is inferred that he had just finished his task, and was preparing to join his companions on the opposite side by crawling back. This barrier was removed, when the whole force of miners were found congregated, piled one upon another, dead. The first two bodies brought up were much disfigured and bloated, with clots of blood around their mouths. Active preparations are making for the immediate removal of the bodies. The work will consume a great part of the day. The coroner of Plymouth has impannelled a jury, who will view the bodies as fast as brought up.

This evening the work of bringing the dead bodies to the surface proceeded steadily. Sixty bodies have now been raised, and the funerals will be held to-morrow. A despatch from President Sloan, of the Delaware, Lackawanna, and Western Railroad, orders all the shops and works of the company to be closed, and free trains run to and from Avondale to all prominent points on the road. The stores at Pittston are closed to-day.

A meeting is to be held to raise funds for the relief of the sufferers. Mayor Hill, of this city, issued a proclamation ordering all places of business to be closed on the 9th and 10th. Relief subscriptions had been received as follows:—5000 dollars from the New York Board of Brokers; 2500 dollars from Asa Packer and Co.; 500 dollars from Governor Geary.

Scranton, September 9, 1.30 a.m.—Ninety bodies have been found, eighty-two of which have been brought to the surface. A doctor was called to attend the men who explored the mine, but none present volunteered. Dr. Bicord came from Plymouth to perform the duty of resuscitating the miners if more foul air is encountered. The coroner will take testimony Saturday afternoon. The heaps of coal left in the shute have been lighted, and are blazing in a long line extending from the railroad up the hill. A great outbreak of grief occurs among the women in the nearest miners' houses whenever a body is brought up. The air in the mine is so bad that parties can stay but a few moments below.

New York, September 9.—A Scranton special says that later explorations of the mine have developed a sadder phase of the tragedy. Many chambers have been entered where the miners were found dead abreast of the mine, showing that they were stricken down by the poisonous gas in an instant, without a moment's warning, while they were at work. Road-men, doormen, and others were found dead in the different gangways, showing the destruction must have come swift and sudden. The spirit evinced by the miners to-day has been bitter in the extreme, but it is assuaged by offers of assistance and sympathy flowing in from every side. The railroad companies make all exertions possible, and the wishes of the miners are in every respect consulted. But they remain obdurate. The more reasonable are ready to listen to reason, but they are in a minority. Many are refractory, and trouble is apprehended, and has been avoided only by consummate tact.

Avondale (Pa.), September 9.—Two experienced miners, with twenty men, have just returned from the mine. They report that they have explored every part of the workings, and are satisfied that all the bodies have been recovered. The number of bodies taken out is one hundred and eight.

GREAT STORM AT BOSTON.—LOSS OF LIFE.

Boston, September 9.—The storm last night was the heaviest between 7 and 8 o'clock. G. M. Clark, in the morning, attempted to rescue a boy who was reported buried in the ruins of the Coliseum, when he was struck by flying planks and killed. Several persons were injured, but no others fatally. Among the prominent buildings damaged was the old Methodist church, on Hanover-street, the steeple of which was blown down. The Broadway Methodist church, in South Boston, was almost entirely destroyed, involving a loss of 40,000 dollars. The Coliseum was unroofed, and the walls partially demolished. The Central Church (Dr. Todd's) was badly damaged, a portion of the steeple falling through the roof. Rev. Dr. Garnett's church was partially unroofed. The roof of the Hartford and Erie machine shop was partially blown off. The Old Colony machine shop was damaged. The Norman School was badly damaged. Portions of the skating rink were carried away. A large number of buildings in process of erection, in all sections of the city, were more or less damaged. Hundreds of chimneys were blown down, and signs and awnings carried away in all directions. On the Common, and in all parts of the city, strong trees were twisted and split, or torn up by the roots. The "Old Elm" survived the gale with the loss of a few branches.

Cambridge, Chelsea, Charlestown, and other places, suffered in the same proportion with Boston. The damage in Boston and vicinity is estimated at over a million dollars.

Providence (R. I.), September 9.—The gale last evening, from 4 to 5 o'clock, was the most severe since 1855, when the city was partially submerged. It was experienced throughout the State, and in this city. The Hartford Railroad depot was demolished, the Chestnut-street church steeple blown down, and nearly all the other church steeples injured. Probably one hundred buildings were unroofed. The fruit and shade trees were destroyed. The Bristol railroad will not be passable for several days.

Many vessels are ashore in Narragansett and Mount Hope bays.

The sloop Resolution went to pieces in Wickford's harbour, and two men were lost.

Great damage is reported at Bristol, Greenwich, Pawtucket, Fall River, and other places.

THE PROHIBITION AGAINST FOREIGN-BUILT SHIPS.

New York, September 9.—The Ship-owners' Association held a meeting yesterday, and discussed the law prohibiting foreign-built ships sailing under American colours. A committee was appointed to draft a memorial to be presented to Congress, asking permission to buy ships in the best markets, and admitting ship-building material free of duty. It was the sense of the meeting that American ships will be entirely driven from the ocean, unless allowed to compete equally with foreign ones.

A PRIVATEER.

New York, September 9.—It is stated on reliable authority that the gunboat formerly named Pequod, now lying at the Atlantic Wharf, Brooklyn, is being fitted out as a privateer, to prey on Spanish commerce.

MISCELLANEOUS.

Chicago, September 7.—A Washington special says that a filibustering expedition from Macon, Georgia, has been captured by the United States Marshal, the steamboat conveying the party having grounded on a sandbar while descending the river. Unless the proposition pending with Spain shall result in an armistice, during which the question at issue between Cuba and Spain shall be adjusted, it is now regarded certain that a proclamation will be issued, recognising the Cubans as belligerents.

Portland (Maine), September 8.—Senator Fessenden died at 6 30 this morning. He was sensible to the hour of his death, and passed a comfortable night till 3 o'clock.

Chicago, September 8.—David Walsh, a street car driver, shot and fatally wounded his wife while entering the door of her father's house, last evening. The parties have been married about a year. Mrs. Walsh, who was young and handsome, having learned that her husband had another wife living, returned to her parents, and sued for a divorce, since which, several times, he has followed and annoyed her. Last night he deliberately shot her without a word. He was arrested, and expressed joy at the deed.

St. Louis, September 8.—A Helena (M. T.) despatch says the mail coach from that point to the railroad was robbed, on Monday night, of about 30,000 dollars in gold bars. The passengers were also robbed of their arms and 2000 dollars. This is the second robbery within a week.

Philadelphia, September 8.—Joseph Snyder, who murdered Carter at Fairmont Park, suicided in his cell this morning by holding his head in a bucket of water.

Milwaukee, September 8.—The Wisconsin Democratic State Convention met to-day. Resolutions were adopted that the Democratic party of Wisconsin rejoice in the extinction of slavery, and in the prompt and general acquiescence of the Southern people in the result of the war; deploring the inexcusable infringements of Congress upon the liberty of the citizens and the freedom of the ballot, its constant burdens upon labour, and its covert purpose to centralise and enlarge the powers of the general Government. The resolutions also favour the taxation of the national bonds.

Jackson (Miss.), September 8.—The National Union Republican Convention met yesterday. 360 delegates were present; 75 of them were coloured. The resolutions reaffirm the principles enunciated in the Constitution of January 23; declare in favour of a liberal system of free schools and equitable distribution of the school funds; cordially invite the immigration of capitalists and manufacturers; pledge the party to such legislation as shall most effectually foster all industry in the State and thoroughly develop its resources. Judge Lewis Dent was unanimously nominated for Governor, and Judge Jefferds for Lieutenant-Governor.

Washington, September 8.—The heads of the Treasury bureau to-day passed resolutions of respect to the late Secretary Rawline. The Secretary of the Navy has ordered guns to be fired to-morrow at noon at all the naval stations, and that crape be worn by the officers for thirty days. The appointment of Jesse Bailey as postmaster at Louisville, Kentucky, is officially announced. The President this afternoon appointed General Sherman to act as Secretary of War until the vacancy is filled. The Mayor has issued a proclamation closing the municipal offices to-morrow. There is an indication that all secular business throughout the city will be suspended. Veterans of the soldiers of the Union, some of the survivors of the Mexican war, and of the war of 1812, will participate in the ceremonies. This afternoon an unknown party, consisting of three ladies and gentlemen, visited the corpse of the Secretary of War and left a beautiful bouquet of flowers and evergreens, arranged in the form of a star, about twenty inches in diameter. Accompanying it was a card with the following inscription: "On this altar of greatest sacrifice for our country's good the Lone Star offers this emblem as an incense to renewed fraternal love. A wayward sister, yet she is still a sister." The remains will be followed by nearly three hundred carriages containing the family and friends and members of the Diplomatic Corps and officials of the Government, in addition to the military and various civic associations. After the religious ceremonies at the Congressional Cemetery, a salute of three volleys of musketry and twelve guns or salvos of artillery will be fired. The funeral pageant will doubtless be one of the most solemn and impressive ever witnessed in this city.

Chicago, September 8.—The annual meeting of the American Pharmaceutical Association commenced in this city yesterday, it being the first meeting ever held in the West. There was a large exposition of pharmaceutical articles and apparatus connected with the Convention. Most of the European countries had specimens on exhibition, and the display is highly creditable. The most important business was a proposition for a bill regulating the practice of pharmacy, to be submitted to State Legislatures. The enactment is designed to prevent the employment of incompetent persons as druggists, to avoid accidents. The bill is quite elaborate, and goes over for consideration.

St. Louis, September 9.—The Warrenburg coal mine at Carbon Hill, Missouri, caught fire in the main shaft, on Monday last, while fifteen men were in the mine. Seven succeeded in getting out by clinging to the ropes of the ascending car, though the men were badly burned. The remainder were forced to remain in the mine till the fire was extinguished, when they were rescued. All were more or less injured—one probably fatally.

Chicago, September 9.—A New York special says it is certain the United States ship Sabine has been ordered home, with a portion of the crew in confinement on a charge of mutiny. Witnesses have been sent hither on another vessel. The force in the Navy Yard was again increased yesterday. It is understood that the recent tour of Secretary Robeson and Admiral Porter was for the purpose of pushing works at all the Navy Yards and putting the war ships in condition for service.

Boston, September 9.—It is reported that the Government is negociating to purchase Long Island, at the head of Boston Harbour, for the purpose of erecting strong fortifications. An extensive conflagration in East Cambridge this morning destroyed property valued at 162,000 dollars.

New York, September 9.—Henry T. Moore, owner of the Rutherford Park, New Jersey, shot and killed himself on Tuesday. He was worth about 200,000 dollars. He leaves a family. The Erie Railroad recently bought several acres of land, with water privilege, at Hoboken, for freight purposes. They paid 1,600,000 dollars.

Halifax, September 9.—The steamer Hornet has been released from custody. It is still believed she was intended for Cuba, and will receive men and arms at sea.

CUBA.

Havanah, September 7.—Cespedes and Quesada, with six thousand men, attacked Los Teinas, garrisoned by four hundred sick and invalid soldiers, and were repulsed with the loss of five hundred men and many arms and flags. It was a complete rout, so much so that they did not oppose the column of Benegsi, only five hundred strong, which arrived the next day with a large convoy, at Los Teinas.

Washington, September 8.—Advices from Cuban sources, received here, give accounts of several engagements recently between the Cubans and Spaniards, the most important of which was an engagement between the forces of Valmazeda, 600 strong, and those under the command of Quesada, near Los Tunas. Valmazeda was the attacking party. After an engagement of four hours, the Spaniards were repulsed with severe loss. The Cuban loss was over 100. Valmazeda retreated to Los Tunas under cover of the fortifications, and then secured protection for his troops; the Cubans not being supplied with the artillery necessary to attack so formidable fortifications. In a fight near Puerto Le Grande, a Spanish force, seven hundred strong, is reported to have deserted in a body to the Cubans, leaving their officers, who were paroled by General Jordan. Quesada and Jordan expressed confidence in their ability to secure Cuban independence.

Havana, September 8.—The Captain-General has issued a decree declaring salt and medicines contraband of war, and prohibiting their transportation to the interior without permits describing their consents and giving descriptions of all packages.

UTAH.

Salt Lake, September 2.—George Francis Train left last night for the East. In his last lecture he said: "I say you have been the most outraged people on the face of the globe, and if our Government dares to interfere in the future with any of your notions, you must fight. You remember how in 1857, six hundred Mormons, at the head of Echo, kept an entire army at bay. If you could frighten them under such circumstances, what can you do now, with 100,000 Mormons ready to fight for their religion and rights." He told the Mormons not to trade with Gentiles, or pay them anything. Great indignation prevails among the Gentiles at such treasonable language.

A great amount of sickness prevails among the children, and there are many deaths. One day there were fifteen funerals, and the deaths are on the increase.

News has arrived that Wells, Fargo, and Co.'s Express, coming from Helena to Corinne, was robbed last night of two treasure boxes by a party of men. Four of them stopped the coach, presenting their guns at the driver and passengers, and three others on guard. The driver hesitated, but after he was threatened with being shot, produced the boxes and handed them to the robbers. One contained a large quantity of gold dust and valuable papers. The party were armed men, and led by Salisbury, of the stage line. People are in pursuit of the robbers.

NEW ZEALAND ITEMS.

FROM the Auckland journals to the 28th ultimo, we take the following extracts;—

The Wellington Independent states that Captain Gordon, late of H.M. 65th Regiment, has just ridden through alone from Whanganui to Taranaki, stopping at Patea on the road. He slept at native pas, and associated freely among the Maories along the coast, whom he found uniformly kind, peaceable, and civil. It is also said that Mr. Kelly, M.H.R., is at Opunake, arranging with the natives there for the erection of a flaxmill. The natives are reported to quite appreciate the change of Ministry, and to be turning their swords into pruning-hooks.

A report has reached the Government through native channels that Titokowaru, who has so long been in a state of quiescence in the Upper Waitara, has broken ground, and, accompanied by a few followers whom he has been able to recruit, is advancing on his old position among the swamps at Te Ngaere. It is not likely that he will gather a large force, and, should he venture near any of Major Noake's posts, his temerity will, in all probability, result in his destruction.

On October 20 a telegram was received in town from Captain W. M'Donnell to the effect that he had been successful in discovering some very rich specimens of gold-bearing quartz at a place in the Kaimanawa ranges, within the boundaries of the province of Auckland. He had not at that time seen Mr. Tiffen, who, on hearing the news, will, it is presumed, return to Napier in order to organise a working parting in the interests of the "Hawke's Bay Goldmining and Prospecting Company."

A correspondent of the Whanganui Times, writing from Camp Wereroa, says:—"Five of us were out scouting on and around Pakaraka for several days, but could not find a native. After our return a fire was seen at the 'seven sisters,' and before daylight next morning, twenty-two of us started in that direction. On advancing up the river we observed tracks of bare feet, and, at the place where Serjeant Menzies and his men were shot, observed that a canoe had recently been drawn up. We then pushed on rapidly until we reached the place where the fire had been, and here again were tracks of bare feet, but no Maories visible. We then pushed on to the site of the old village, Hauroa, but, not finding them there, started for camp, scouring the bush as we came along. On reaching camp one of our men was missing, and a party started out to look for him, and from the top of a hill saw a canoe coming down the river. The men in the canoe made for the shore, and landed as if to cut off our party, who watched their movements and waited with cocked rifles for a volley. The canoe partly advanced to within thirty or forty yards of our men, and when about to get a volley one of them cried out, and it was soon seen that they were Europeans, but being covered with mud and dirt nothing but their speech, at a short distance, would enable anyone to say what they were. It appears that they had been up the river looking for loot of some kind; and that it was their fire that deceived us, and their tracks that we followed. They must have passed up in one of Sherwood's canoes during the night, and thus escaped our observation."

Amidst all the grievances about absentees it is quite refreshing to read of natives paying their rates like gentlemen, and contributing like their fellow settlers towards the progress of the district in which they live. It is significant of the state of things in the North when we read of a number of native ratepayers attending the meeting in the Ahipara highway district, and of Mr. Puckey being called upon to interpret to them the proceedings. We trust the time is not far distant when we shall see the natives all over the province willingly contributing their fair share towards the maintenance of roads and bridges, and when too it will not be necessary to interpret to them the proceedings of a meeting of ratepayers. There can be nothing like free intercourse and mutual interest for breaking down those barriers of language and customs, and removing the distrust and prejudice which are produced by isolation and unfriendliness.

PARTIES furnishing are recommended to call early at the Commercial Exchange Auction Rooms, in George-street, and inspect the varied and useful household furniture, in excellent preservation, to be sold this day, by J. B. North and Co.

CUSTOM HOUSE.—Entered outwards, November 5: Florence Irving (s.), 348 tons, Captain Fitzsimons, for Brisbane.

The barque Penang, from Burrow's Inlet, via San Francisco, arrived in port yesterday, after a good passage of fifty-two days. She brings a full cargo of timber; and we are indebted to the forethought and courtesy of her commander, Captain White, for papers up to the 10th September. The Adelaide Carlton sailed on the same day, also for Sydney; and as there is no general mail by the Penang, it has doubtless been placed on board the other vessel. With respect to the passage, Captain White states that he sailed from San Francisco on the 13th September, and got clear of the land on the 15th; on the 9th October made Palmyra Island, latitude 5 50 N., longitude 161·53 W. A reef runs off for about 5 miles from the western end in a W.N.W. direction; but the charts place it in latitude 5·43 N., longitude 162·23 W.—a very serious discrepancy. The Equator was crossed on the 29th day, in longitude 168 46 W. The Penang is to the consignment of Messrs. Scott, Henderson, and Co.

The Euromedha barque, reported in yesterday's issue as having been wrecked on the Brampton Shoal, is insured in the following offices:—New Zealand, £2000; Australasian, £2000; National, £1000. The freight is insured in the Southern for £1200, and the cargo as follows:—General, £4000; New South Wales, £4000; Pacific, £1500; Southern, £1500; Victoria, £1200. Total, £17,900.

The Egmont (s.) left Rockhampton River at 10.30 a.m. on the 30th ultimo, passed Lady Elliott's Island at 7 a.m. on the 31st, Cape Moreton at 5 p.m. on the 1st instant, Smoky Cape at 3 p.m. on the 4th, Seal Rocks at 2 a.m. on the 5th, and arrived in Sydney at 4.15 p.m. on the 5th. Experienced thick cloudy weather, with heavy rain and high confused sea, throughout the passage.

The Diamantina (s.), left Maryborough on the 28th October, at 3 p.m., but in consequence of S.E. gales and heavy sea, did not cross Wide Bay bar until the 30th, at 6 a.m.; at 7 p.m. same day passed Cape Moreton; on 31st, at 6.30 a.m., passed Cape Byron; on 1st November, at 8 30 a.m., passed Smoky Cape, but, in consequence of the bad weather experienced, could not proceed further. Hove-to under easy steam, reefed trysails, and stood out to the eastward; on 2nd at 8 p.m., bore away for Smoky Cape, wind blowing with terrific violence from S.S.W., with very heavy sea breaking. Anchored in Trial Bay at 6 p.m., in comparatively smooth water, and remained till the gale abated on the 4th; at 2 p.m. weighed anchor, and arrived at Sydney at 5.30 p.m. on the 5th.

The forthcoming Balmain Regatta promises to be as successful as any of the preceding meetings. The prizes are liberal, and the committee have evidently exerted themselves to contribute, in every way, so as to afford an excellent day's amusement to the lovers of aquatic sports. The fine ship Resolute has, by the courtesy of Captain Campbell, been placed at the disposal of the committee, and will be the flagship on the occasion. The trophies to be awarded to the successful competitors have been judiciously chosen, and the intrinsic value well worthy of the occasion. There are three entrances for the R. S. Y. S. race, viz., Ione, Ella, Peri. The P. A. Club will bring to the start Clio, Ixion, Torment, Eva, Ino, Psyche, Josephine, and Cynthia; and in the match for all boats, decked or half-decked, The Daisy and Pakeron will compete the pride of place. The sculling races will also prove highly interesting, all our best men having entered.

The City of Hobart (s.) left Hobart Town at 4 p.m. on Tuesday, passed Cape Howe at 8 p.m. on Thursday, entered Sydney Heads at 8 p.m. on Friday, and moored alongside the Grafton Wharf at 9 p.m. Strong northerly winds to Cape Howe, from thence strong S.E. gale.

The ship La Hogue, from Plymouth, 83 days out, was reported off Wilson's Promontory on the 29th ultimo, but owing to a continuance of E. and N.E. winds, has not reached this up to the time of going to press.

The P. and O. Co.'s s. Geelong leaves with the homeward mail at 9 a.m. to-day.

GEORGE R. SMALLEY, Government Astronomer.

The Sydney Morning Herald.

SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 6, 1869.

IN the Legislative Assembly, yesterday,

Ministers, in answer to questions, said:—That local Boards to Public schools were chiefly appointed on the recommendation of the Inspector of the district, and a record of the recommendations was kept; that the Government had taken steps to remedy the inconvenience arising from the circulation of defaced and worn silver coin; and that the Gold-Fields Bill had not been drawn by either of the parliamentary draftsmen.

Mr. ROBERTSON moved that the House, at its rising, adjourn to Wednesday next.

Dr. LANG protested against these holidays as an injury to the labouring classes, who were thus deprived of a day's work.

Mr. J. STEWART held the same view, and accused the Government of not carrying out their expressed intention to abolish saints' days and holidays.

Mr. FORSTER defended the Government, and alleged that all holidays on saints' days had been abolished. This holiday was not appointed by the Government, and he himself was opposed to it, and would vote against it if a division was called.

Sir JAMES MARTIN took this opportunity of declaring that the meddlesome persons in England, who had taken on themselves the position of representatives in London of the Australian colonies, were in no way authorised to act in that capacity. Their interference was an act of gross impertinence. This colony was loyal in every possible way, had no desire to end its connection with England, and if cast off by that country would ally itself with no other, but would stand alone dependent on its own strength. In this he spoke the sentiment of every man in the community.

Mr. ROBERTSON adopted every word that had fallen from Sir James Martin. The Government had received a circular from these officious gentlemen, recommending the appointment of delegates to be sent to London. He had not laid that circular on the table of the House because he considered it would be giving to the action of these gentlemen an importance which it did not deserve.

The adjournment was carried by 27 to 10.

In Committee of the Whole, Mr. LYONS moved a resolution for a sum of £400 to be placed on the Estimates, for completing the Gladesville Road. This was carried by a majority of 14 to 13.

The resolution from the Committee of the Whole for a sum of money to construct a bridge over the Cudgegong Creek was read a first time by the casting vote of the Speaker, the numbers being 14 to 14.

The adoption of the resolution was carried by 17 to 13.

A bill to authorise the trustees of certain church lands to divide the income between the Presbyterian congregations of East and West Maitland, was brought in by Mr. DODDS, and read a first time.

The Sydney Boundaries Amendment Bill was read a third time and passed.

The House was counted out at eight minutes past 6, and was adjourned to 3 o'clock on Wednesday next.

THE breeders of horses may remember that some time ago Mr. R. D. Ross, the Assistant-Commissary-General at Adelaide, being ordered home to England, was requested to go round by India, and lay before the Government of that country a scheme for establishing a depot for Australian horses at Port Darwin, on the northern coast.

Mr. Ross fulfilled this duty, and his arrival in India seems to have been particularly opportune, as the whole question connected with the remount service was at that time under serious consideration by a Commission in Madras appointed to make a comprehensive inquiry into the sources of horse supply and the fitness of the respective breeds of horses for military service, &c. Though the report of that Commission was not published at the time, the conclusions arrived at were communicated to him.

The order of preference given to the different castes of horse suitable for the mounted branches of the army is as follows:—1, Arabs; 2 Persians; 3, Cape horses; 4, northern horses (Heratees); 5, Australian horses; 6, Deccanee and other country horses—including those bred at the Government stud of the Madras Presidency. The Arab and Persian horses are bred for the most part in the southern provinces of Persia and brought from the Persian Gulf to Mangalore, a port on the west coast of Madras. The Heratee horses are brought from the north-eastern frontiers of Persia, from Turkistan, Affghanistan, and Beloochistan, and are driven overland to Kurrachee, from which port they are shipped to different parts of India. For the English cavalry and the horse artillery the Arabs and Persians are preferred. The native cavalry have to be content with Heratees. The Cape and Australian horses are most suitable for the field batteries, on account of their greater strength and weight in draught. The Australian horse is pretty unanimously condemned as a coarse, awkward, ill-tempered, sluggish, and underbred brute, and what is worse is, that its defects are noticed so generally as to lead the Commission to regard them not as accidental, but as inseparable from that class of horse. The faults are classified as fourfold; first, reduced condition on arrival; secondly, the large quantity of food they need as compared with Oriental and Cape horses; thirdly, their inability, without detriment, to stand exposure to the sun, or endure long-continued hard work; fourthly, defects of temper, caused perhaps by injudicious handling as colts, but still existing to such an extent as to render many of them next to useless.

The average price paid for Arabs has been from £57 to £60; but the best Australian horses introduced into the Madras army—namely, those procured by Major ATKINSON—cost nearly £69, while those purchased for Bengal at about the same time cost nearly £100 a head. The Australians are, therefore, the dearest, and would not be bought at all, but that others cannot be obtained in sufficient quantity. It is stated, however, that some restriction that has existed on the exportation of Arab horses is now removed.

The Madras officers prefer the Cape horse to the Australian—a preference which Mr. Ross can only account for on the ground that the Cape horses have all been imported by the Government, and that, therefore, they were better cared for on the voyage. Mr. RICHARDSON, of Madras, who has had upwards of twenty-five years' experience of Australian horses, states that they are landed more dead than alive, and that they take on an average six months to get fairly on their legs. They are crowded too close on board, and no proper attention is paid to cleanliness. Lieutenant-Colonel TURNBULL, the President of the Bengal Remount Committee, is also of opinion that the voyage is partly responsible for the bad character the Australian horses have obtained. His impression is that, from over-crowding and illtreatment on board ship, their lungs and constitution get permanently affected, that properly cared for on the voyage they would give a better result, and be found to stand the climate, and would then be very valuable for artillery purposes, from their weight and soundness of limbs. As a rule, he says, the feet and hocks of Australian horses for soundness can scarcely be surpassed. Colonel THOMPSON, of Madras, who is Remount Agent, professes his belief that Australia cannot supply the style of horse required in sufficient number to meet the large annual demand; and he bases this opinion on the fact that he has been at great pains repeatedly to impress on Australian dealers, both by letter and by word of mouth, the importance of sending the right stamp of animal, and that though he has been as repeatedly promised that the right sort should come next time, he has been as invariably disappointed. The Madras Government, however, has authorised its remount agent to go as high as £75 for Australian horses, fitted for the duties of wheel-horses for the field batteries; but they are to select only those of a stout compact character, never exceeding 15 hands 2 inches high.

The opinions thus gathered by Mr. Ross were certainly not favourable to the prospects of an increased Australian trade in horses, the presumption being that they were only taken because no better could be got. The scheme of the South Australian Government, however, for establishing a remount depot at Port Darwin, would, to some extent, mitigate the objections made, for the voyage from that port to Madras or Calcutta would be very much shorter than from Sydney, Melbourne, or Adelaide, and the injury to the animals from their detention on board ship would be proportionately reduced. But this, of itself, will not be of much avail, unless horses of the right quality can be furnished in sufficient quantity. There is a large and steady demand in India. Is not Australia equal to a long and steady supply? Except for racing purposes, horse-breeding in Australia has been very much neglected. Now that wool pays so badly, horses may be more worthy of attention. There is no known reason for supposing that the climate of some parts of Australia is not equal for horse-breeding purposes to the climate of Persia or Arabia. With the right breed and proper attention paid, horses of the first quality might be produced; and the probability is, that the enterprise would be steadily remunerative.

THE HON. ARTHUR HODGSON.—This gentleman, so long known in this and the adjoining colony of Queensland, takes his departure for Europe, with Mrs. Hodgson, in the mail steamer to-day. Mr. Hodgson was the first overlander, in connection with another gentleman, who took sheep across to what was then known as Moreton Bay, during the Governorship of Sir George Gipps. He has been connected with the squatting interest in Queensland from that time to the present, was for many years manager of the Australian Agricultural Company, and during several sessions represented Newcastle in the Parliament of New South Wales. For the last ten months Mr. Hodgson has filled the important post in the Queensland Ministry of Colonial Secretary. The eldest daughter of Mr. Hodgson is married to the Hon. James Wilfred, eldest son of Viscount Lifford.

PEN AND INK SKETCHES.—Some very well-executed freehand sketches, done with pen and ink, have been sent to this office by Mr. J. C. Fitz John Hall, of the Australian Writing Institution, 726, George-street. One drawing, representing a group of animals, is beautifully done, and is quite a work of art in its way, although, of course, pen and ink are not the best materials with which pictorial beauties can be developed. Mr. Hall certainly possesses considerable talent. His designs are good, and the manner in which they are worked out highly creditable.

ROCKHAMPTON.—We have papers from the above portion of Queensland to the 29th ultimo. His Excellency Governor Blackall was enthusiastically received on his arrival and duly fêted.

COMMISSION OF LUNACY.—An investigation took place at the Supreme Court yesterday (under writ de lunatico inquirendo) touching the sanity of Mr. Samuel Cowan. This inquiry was held on the petition of Mrs. Maria Cowan, the wife of the alleged lunatic. Mr. Fisher, barrister-at-law, sat as commissioner, and a jury of twelve was empanelled to try the questions of fact. Mr. M. H. Stephen, instructed by Mr. Dawson, appeared for the petitioner. It was found beyond all doubt that Mr. Cowan suffered under strong delusions, imagining himself to be a person of unbounded wealth, &c., and was quite unable to manage his own affairs. The jury, besides hearing this evidence, went out to Mr. Tucker's asylum at Cook's River, and saw Mr. Cowan himself. Their verdict, after a few moments' consideration, and without leaving the jury box, was that he (Mr. Cowan) was of unsound mind.

CAPTAIN COOK STATUE COMMITTEE.—A meeting of this committee was announced to take place yesterday afternoon, in the Judge's Chambers, Supreme Court House, King-street. Sir Alfred Stephen, C.J., occupied the chair. In consequence of the very wet state of the weather throughout the day and the preparations of business men for the outgoing mail, the number of members of committee present was too small to form a quorum, and the meeting was accordingly adjourned till Wednesday next. Through the unwearied exertions of the committee, and those who have had the carrying out of the contracts, the statue has now been brought forward to its present stage—the end of the third contract. The hon. secretary, Mr. R. B. Smith, has received from Mr. E. T. Blacket, who is superintending the erection of the statue, a letter to the following effect:—Mr. Blacket intimates to the committee that the third contract has been finished in accordance with their wish. He states that he put on extra hands to expedite its completion. He forwarded an account for the contract just finished, which amounted to £218. Mr. Blacket further says that the work yet remaining to be done consists of three stones, all of which would require polishing. In the original plan the shaft and the torus were in one stone, but by dividing it into two a large saving of material would be effected, and the contractor had agreed to finish it for £618, instead of £700. The amount paid by the committee for the work of the two former contracts has been £645, so that although a number of promised subscriptions are outstanding, it will require the utmost efforts of the gentlemen comprising the committee, assisted by the liberality of the public, to raise the sum necessary to complete the stonework so as to make it fit for the reception of the figure of the world-renowned navigator. Although the sum required amounts to some hundreds of pounds, the committee are confident that the work will not be allowed to languish for want of support. They also firmly believe that the matter is one of such interest as will commend itself to every one who enjoys freedom under the flag which has done so much in the cause of science and the discovery so necessary to it. The amount of expense already incurred, including advertising, &c., is about £1000.

SPORTING.—There was hardly any business done at Tattersall's last night. A few wagers were made about the Homebush Handicaps and the treble event—Homebush Spring Handicap, Homebush Cup, and Tattersall's Cup. For the Spring Handicap Tippler was backed at 3 to 1, and Carnation at 4 to 1. For the Homebush Cup, Carnation seemed to be the best fancied, and was at 4 to 1. For the double event, 50 to 3 was laid against the two Tipplers, the two Carnations, and Tippler and Carnation. Juanita is scratched.

BOTANY SUNDAY-SCHOOL.—On Thursday last the annual treat, in connection with the above school, was given in the grounds of Mr. G. W. Lord, Eurimbla, near Botany. The children were conveyed to the spot in omnibuses and private conveyances. A large arch of evergreens was erected over the carriage way leading up to the house, and a number of flags were displayed in front of the dwelling, and a number of devices embellished the verandah. Besides the Sunday-school children and their teachers, a large number of visitors were present. The company entered joyously into various outdoor sports provided for them, and at noon they were supplied with a bountiful repast. Having refreshed themselves, amusement was again the order of the day, and in the afternoon tea was served. Tea being over, the children of the school presented their pastor, the Rev. S. Fox, with an address, the reading of which was entrusted to one of the elder boys, whilst the accompanying gift, which consisted of a very neat and chaste electroplate writing stand, was presented by one of the senior girls. The rev. gentleman, in acknowledgment, expressed his sincere thanks and earnest hope that his young friends might become, not only good and useful members of society, but earnest, genuine, and consistent disciples of Christ. After cheers for the Queen, for Mr. and Mrs. Lord, the Rev. Mr. Fox, and the teachers, the company returned to their homes.

ST. LUKE'S, BURWOOD.—Owing to the increase of population at Burwood, the churchwardens are unable to meet the demand for sittings in this place of worship. It is, therefore, resolved to take immediate steps to enlarge the church, by putting up an aisle on the north side. This addition will give about eighty sittings, and thus furnish accommodation for the present to the members of the Church of England at Burwood.

TESTIMONIAL.—On Saturday evening last, at a public meeting of the churchwardens and parishioners of St. Matthew's Church, Manly Beach, presided over by the incumbent, the Rev. E. Smith, B.A., a handsome drawing-room clock was presented to Mr. J. V. Barnard, for his services in connection with the church during his residence at Manly.

SUICIDE OF A MAORI MURDERER.—The Wellington Independent gives the following account of the suicide of Wi Tamaroa, the convicted Maori:—"Shortly after 12 o'clock, his dinner was taken to him by one of the turnkeys, the food having been previously cut up in small pieces, so as not to necessitate the use of a knife, this being done as a precautionary measure. At one o'clock the turnkey visited the cell, for the purpose of removing the plate and spoon. On attempting to open the small trap in the cell door, he was unable to do so in consequence of a strap being placed round the iron fastening. The turnkey at once took out his knife and cut the strap, at the same time sending a prisoner, who was with him, for another officer to bring the keys of the cell door. On opening the cell, the deceased was found lying across the doorway. He was immediately brought out of the cell, but life was found to be extinct. We visited the gaol yesterday, and saw the cell in which the prisoner had been confined. The cell is lofty and well ventilated, and nothing but the exercise of the utmost ingenuity could have suggested such a means of committing suicide. The wood of the trap-door had shrunk, leaving a chink just sufficient to pass the strap through. The prisoner, with the aid of a piece of worsted taken out of his rug, managed to get the strap round the iron fastening of the trap. The other end was formed into a loop, and with the aid of the buckle was made a running noose. The prisoner must have placed his neck in the noose, which was only about three feet from the floor, and by a most determined effort succeeded in strangling himself. The deceased was about the middle height, and must have been a very strong man, from the immense development of bone and muscle. On his breast were tatooed, in large Roman capitals, the words 'Te Awa Mauku.' As he lay, he appeared a most diabolical and formidable ruffian. Although he has succeeded by this determined act in preventing the last dread sentence of the law being carried into effect, society is well rid of him. No blame whatever can be attached to the gaol authorities, as no one could possibly have anticipated such a deed. The deceased was one of the worst of the criminals in custody, having been found guilty of murder, and there being no less than three indictments against him. He is known also to have committed several other murders."

MARRIAGE A LA MODE.—A short time ago (says the Bathurst Free Press), a woman named Mary Jane Parker, residing at No. 7 Section of the G. W. R., applied for a warrant against one William Makepeace, on the charge of having deserted his illegitimate female child without making any provision for its maintenance. Makepeace was arrested on the warrant at Trunkey Creek, and forwarded to Carcoar, whence he was ordered to Bathurst to be dealt with. On Saturday last the prisoner was brought before the Bathurst Bench, and when he saw the child in the Court, went forward and kissed it. The P.M. recommended the young man to marry the mother of the child; he consented to do so, and as the C.P.S. is now the District Registrar, the charge was withdrawn from the Police sheet, and the marriage ceremony was performed without further delay. This is, we believe, the first marriage celebrated by the new Registrar and the first time that the bonds of matrimony have been entered into in the Bathurst Court-house.

PETRIFYING BODIES AND PRESERVING MEAT.—In the Lancet of the 21st August last, Dr. Alfred Meadows draws the attention of the medical profession to a letter which appeared in the Athenæum, with reference to the preservation of the pathological specimens by Professor Abbate, of Naples, who has lately discovered a secret, long since supposed to be lost, of petrifying the human body, so as to preserve the features and even the colouring of the body. Another discovery made by the professor is of greater interest to the Australian public, namely, that of preserving meat fresh without introducing any substance injurious to health, or affecting the taste, the appearance, or the nutritive qualities of the meat. Professor Abbate declares that he can do this by a very simple and inexpensive method. His fame as a discoverer is so great, that an Italian firm having large dealings with America, have already made offers to him on the subject of supplying Europe with fresh meat from South America.

THE PRINCE OF WALES OPERA HOUSE.—The "Dead Resemblance," a drama founded on one of the sensation stories for which Miss Braddon has become so famed, was produced on last Saturday evening. As first played, the dialogue required a good deal of excision and various alterations, which have since been effected. The benefit of the Albert Club caused a change in the programme for Tuesday night, but the new drama was restored next evening, and has been repeated on the last two nights. Miss Cleveland, Mrs. Jones, and the other, engaged in the cast, left little undone that could tend to its success. The piece was admirably mounted, the greater portion of the scenery and mechanical effects being new and elaborate.

BREAKFAST.—A SUCCESSFUL EXPERIMENT.—The Civil Service Gazette has the following:—"There are very few simple articles of food which can boast so many valuable and important dietary properties as cocoa. While acting on the nerves as a gentle stimulant, it provides the body with some of the purest elements of nutrition and at the same time corrects and invigorates the action of the digestive organs. These beneficial effects depend in a great measure upon the manner of its preparation, but of late years such close attention has been given to the growth and treatment of cocoa, that there is no difficulty in securing it with every useful quality fully developed. The singular success which Mr. Epps attained by his homœopathic preparation of cocoa has never been surpassed by any experimentalist. Far and wide the reputation of Epps's Cocoa has spread by the simple force of its own extraordinary merits. Medical men of all shades of opinion have agreed in recommending it as the safest and most beneficial article of diet for persons of weak constitutions. This superiority of a particular mode of preparation over all others is a remarkable proof of the great results to be obtained from little causes. By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well-selected cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast tables with a delicately flavoured beverage which may save us many heavy doctors' bills. It is by the judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disease. Hundreds of subtle maladies are floating around us ready to attack wherever there is a weak point. We may escape many a fatal shaft by keeping ourselves well fortified with pure blood and a properly nourished frame.—ADV.

THE attention of parties furnishing, upholsterers, fancy repositories, dealers, and others, is directed to Bradley, Newton, and Lamb's sale, this day, at their Rooms, Pitt-street, of household furniture, china matting, vases, lustres, Coalbrookdale castings, &c., commencing at half-past 10 o'clock.—ADV.

MIRACULOUS ESCAPE.—The Queanbeyan Age reports that a child of Mr. E. O. Evans's is said to have experienced a marvellous escape a few days ago. Mr. Evans had returned home on horseback, and placed his little boy on the horse, giving the reins into an elder sister's hands to lead the horse about. The animal got away from her, and commencing to canter or trot unseated the child, who remained hanging in the stirrup. The horse frightened at this set off into a gallop dragging the child after him, and coming to a log fence which the animal leaped, the child was fortunately released in the act, otherwise he must have been killed.

TELEGRAPHIC SUMMARY FOR ENGLAND.

We are experiencing a remarkably favourable season. The crops are magnificent, and the interior is reported to be like one large garden.

The Treasurer brought up his Budget on the 14th ultimo. It shows a surplus of £8000 at the end of 1870, and proposes to give up the Ad Valorem duties and the Newspaper Postage rate. No new taxation replaces these, but it is suggested that if the revenue falls short Government will go to property to recruit it.

The Opposition demur to the Treasurer's statement, because he borrows two sums of £50,000, to pay short-dated debentures which by law he should pay from revenue, because revenue is overestimated, because other charges on the revenue are omitted, and because such great changes should not be made without an appeal to the people. They refuse to vote supply in order to force a dissolution.

An Assisted Immigration Bill, brought in by the Government, has been so badly received by the Assembly, that it is likely it will not be gone on with.

Government have introduced a Triennial Parliaments Bill and bills to reduce salaries of future Governors, responsible Ministers, and Judges.

THE DOMAIN OF HORSEHAIR.

No. V.

"That which is everybody's business is nobody's business" is an ancient but o'er true saying. The better regulation of the legal profession is a "something needed" that has been talked about for many years past, and generally as a piece of business which ought to be seen to at once. Spasmodic efforts have been made in that direction now and then, at long intervals, but nothing good has come of them. There is, and has been for some time, a "Law Institute," which has been supposed not only to look after the professional interests of the attorneys, as a class, but to bring ill-doers of that class to condign punishment. In the latter respect it certainly has not done what was expected of it. Perhaps so many attorneys have done naughty things of one sort or another, that the society has given up as quite hopeless all idea of keeping the profession in order. Perhaps the funds of the society are too limited and its members too anxious to avoid collision with professional brethren, and hence shirk the duty of exposing misconduct. Be this as it may, it was recently stated from the Bench that when certain complaints of certain professional peccadilloes were sent to the Law Institute, that body did not feel itself in a position to take these matters up. There was once a proposition for incorporating this association and giving it certain regulatory powers. A bill for that purpose was even prepared and printed. But the scheme has died out. There have been propositions for organising the Bar, but they have all fallen through, principally because there has not appeared to be any such need for the organisation of this branch of the profession as of what barristers love to call the "inferior branch." There is a high tone about the Bar which preserves even its least distinguished members from those meannesses and malpractices into which attorneys of low caste sometimes fall. A member of the Bar guilty of any dishonourable conduct would be at once ostracised by his brethren. There is, too, a sort of natural organisation already existing. Meetings of the Bar for the discussion of any professional question can be (and very often are) convened by the Attorney-General for the time being. But while we gladly testify to the general high character of this learned body, we cannot admit that it is so immaculate as it claims to be.

Let it be remembered that the rock on which attorneys so often run—that of "manipulating" clients' moneys too freely—is one which does not lie in the barrister's track. If it were so, it is just possible that the purity of the wig and hands might not always be truly indicative of clean digits and palms. And the Bar has its own peculiar usages and ethics, which greatly aid its members in keeping up to the standard of professional morality and etiquette. But outsiders may very well take leave to doubt the perfection of this professional code. In our opinion, and in the opinion of most people who are not committed to the maintenance of that code, there are many defects in it. We will touch, lightly, upon two or three of them.

It is not so generally known, as it ought to be, that members of the Bar are never paid for their services. They get fees, and pretty heavy ones, but these fees are supposed to be honorary offerings from the clients to the learned gentlemen whose advocacy they desire to enlist. As a general rule every "counsel," who accepts a brief with its accompanying fee, either performs to the full all that is needful to accomplish the purpose for which such brief has been given, or sees that this is done by some other member of the two-tailed brotherhood. When it is clear that the other engagements of the barrister to whom a brief has been sent will render him quite unable to attend to the business therein set out, the custom is to return both brief and fee, so that they may be transferred to some other counsel. But there is no obligation to do any of these things. The brief may be accepted, the fee pocketed, and the business totally neglected, or passed over hastily to another member of the Bar, who makes a mess of it; and the client has no remedy. And these things which may be done with impunity, have, if we are rightly informed, been often done. It is the "big wigs," we are told, who venture to do such things as these, which would not be tolerated in a junior. Now, we maintain that a system which admits of such practices must be radically wrong, and no amount of special pleading will persuade us to the contrary.

Another and still greater cause of complaint springs out of an abuse of the advocate's identification with his client. It is a rule, and a needful one, that the barrister should care only for his client, should act only upon his instructions, and, without pausing to weigh the strict justice of his case, should do his best to obtain a victory over his opponent. But this is carried much too far. Facts are often strangely distorted, honest and disinterested witnesses shamefully badgered and browbeaten; character ruthlessly assailed, and improper motives freely attributed in order "to make the worse appear the better cause." Counsel are, sometimes, even more vehement in their oratory and more caustic—I had almost written slanderous—in their attacks upon an opponent and his witnesses, when they must be conscious that their client has really "no case." Every witness is sworn to speak "the truth, the whole truth, and nothing but the truth," but cross-examining counsel often make the most vigorous and persistent efforts to keep back such portions of the truth as would damage their client, and to worry or entrap a witness into making admissions or statements which will advance that client's interests—even when it is clear that the justice of the case is the other way. Directly a man goes into the witness-box he seems to be considered as a fair subject for any and every kind of abuse. The examining counsel is generally all politeness, but the learned gentleman who cross-examines usually regards it as a point of professional honour to be as offensive as he can. Questions are sometimes put, and so-called cautions given, which embody all kinds of base insinuations. If the evidence elicited is very unpalatable, efforts are made to blacken the reputation of the witness who has given it. A man of high character and respectability, who is speaking the plain truth—and whom every unbiassed person can see is so speaking—will be compelled to listen to impertinencies from forensic lips which, if uttered elsewhere, he would probably reply to by aiming a kick at that part of the person which, by learned counsel, is shrouded beneath the flowing robe of bombazine; or by applying a clenched fist to that region which is sacred to the curled horsehair. The Judge, generally, looks coolly on without interfering, unless the witness, goaded to desperation, attempts some retort, and then his Honor's authority is at once invoked and interposed to reduce the unhappy wight to submission. It is no justification of the gross abuses of counsel's privilege, which often occur in this way, and in the vituperative character of their speeches, to say that the advocate is the mere mouth-piece of the client. He does not consider himself bound by that client's instructions as to the conduct of the case, but will often refuse to call witnesses whom the client looks upon as most important, and will threaten to "throw up his brief" if his advice be not taken. The same freedom of judgment should be exercised in other matters, and counsel should refuse to distort plain truths, to give currency to baseless insinuations, or to make unjust attacks. It can not be necessary to the ends of justice, let the learned fraternity say what they will, that these things should be allowed. The system which sanctions and encourages them must have something rotten in it, and must need reform.

The only other characteristic of Bar-practice to which we shall allude, is one which, although less open to censure than either of those already noticed is, at the same time, more general, and often causes much annoyance. It is the practice of "spinning out" cases and arguments beyond all reasonable limits. When learned gentlemen have received heavy fees they seem to think themselves bound to make speeches of proportionate magnitude; and when there are several counsel on a side, each will generally "go in" to the utmost extent of his ingenuity. In long trials, "refreshers" (additional fees—very pleasant refreshments) are given, we believe, every third day. The consequence is that some cases—squatting cases in particular—are prolonged to a most needless and most vexatious extent. Points of the most technical character are argued at great length; hosts of witnesses are called to prove facts which could be just as well proved by a few; and speeches of the most wearisome length are addressed to the Court and jury. We have indeed heard it most indignantly and emphatically denied by members of the Bar that the practice of giving "refreshers" has anything to do with the prolongation of these contests. But we have a strong belief in the truth of our own theory, and feel convinced that if there were no refreshers there would be no very long trials.

We see, then, that the privileges and usages of the Bar lead occasionally to great abuses. That the mode in which members of that learned body are remunerated for their services renders it quite possible to give the client no services for his money. That the too great latitude conceded to them can be, and often is, conducive to gross injustice. And that much time is needlessly consumed, and much expense needlessly incurred, in the conduct of legal proceedings. That these things ought not to be, may be taken as a self-evident proposition. But where is the remedy? No subject has been more fully discussed than "Law Reform," and none, perhaps, has elicited greater differences of opinion. We will not venture, therefore, to "dogmatise" upon this very difficult and important question. It has been ably and practically discussed by Mr. Fisher; and, without touching upon the ground which he has gone over, or saying that we are prepared to endorse all his suggestions, we would urge the expediency of giving them a more business-like examination than they have yet had. The subject has been taken up in the Legislature, and as rapidly dropped again. It was clearly not understood there. There must be pressure from without, and strong pressure too, ere any substantial reform of the long standing abuses of our system of jurisprudence will be effected. The best proposition which we have seen has been that which another writer in the Herald, who has recently (and very ably) discussed the subject, has put forth—that a Colonial Law Reform Association should be established. We participate in the surprise which he has expressed at the fact that some such body has not long since been organised. Its very formation would act as some check against existing abuses, for its watchfulness would be feared. Such a body—provided that it included the "right men," and acted with vigour—would carry more weight and exercise more influence than any individual, however talented and experienced. It would be more powerful even than any number of "Law Reformers" acting separately.

EXHIBITION OF NEEDLEWORK AND DRAWINGS.

Fort-street Model School.

The annual exhibition of drawings and needlework wrought by the pupils of the Model School took place yesterday. The products were displayed in the boys' schoolroom, the whole of the desks of the spacious apartment being occupied with an immense variety of vestments, mostly adapted to feminine wear, but also comprising fancy work in wools; the former were worked in almost every variety of pattern and style, and the ornamental specimens exhibited many excellent figure compositions and flower groups. The exhibition of drawings and also of needlework was the largest the school has hitherto given. The most conspicuous, as they were the most beautiful, of the wool pieces were those by Miss Jessie Thompson and Miss Annie Watson. In miscellaneous needlework, the chief prizes were awarded to Misses Kate Landeck, Martha Stewart, Jane Booth, and Mary Cathels. In drawing—the subjects of which were figures, landscapes, and scrolls in pencil—the highest number of marks was obtained by Misses A. Burt, M. Cathels, and M. Stewart, whose productions, in correctness of outline, freedom of execution, and general finish, were far superior to any others.

The visitors, notwithstanding the unfavourable weather, were numerous enough to occupy the whole of the seats set apart for them in the girls' schoolroom, in which apartment the pupils assembled after the exhibits had been inspected. There were not, however, more than one-half of the female pupils attending the school present on this occasion, the usual number being about 50.

Mr. Henry Parkes, M.L.A., was present in his official capacity as chairman of the Council of Education, and presided at an interesting supplementary proceeding in which a series of readings, recitations, and vocal music was introduced. The readings of the "Wreck of the Orpheus" by Miss F. Pritchard, "The Pecksniff Family" by Miss M. Cathels, "Casa Wappy" by Miss K. Harding, and a selection from "David Copperfield" by Miss K. Cromack, were among the best delivered, and were remarkable not only for correct enunciation, but also for an intelligent expressiveness, giving force and point to the various compositions. These readings were alternated with vocal music, which comprised some of the choicest pieces introduced in the course of instruction given by Mr. Fisher, the instructor in vocal music in schools under the Council of Education, and who conducted the singing on this occasion.

The distribution of prizes then took place, and when that ceremony was finished an affectionate address was brought forward by two young scholars from a number of their associates to Mrs. M'Taggart, the head mistress, accompanied with the presentation of a pretty figure-piece, in terra cotta, of a design very appropriate to the relations between the subscribers and the recipient. A similar address was presented by two other pupils on behalf of a number of schoolfellows to Miss Brand, the teacher of needlework, who also accepted from them a pair of elegant vases, which they offered as a mark of their appreciation and esteem.

Mr. Parkes said the duty was thrown upon him of returning thanks to the young ladies for these presents and addresses by which Mrs. M'Taggart and Miss Brand must be much gratified, as indicating the esteem in which they were held by their pupils. It would be impossible to speak in too high terms of their ability as teachers, and it was well acknowledged by the public so far as this school was known. The scholars were fortunate in having such competent teachers, and it must be pleasing to visitors as well as to those ladies themselves to find their services were so well appreciated. He was not disposed to any other feeling than one of gratification, on the occasion of these ceremonies, on finding so much good feeling between pupils and teachers. Some he knew were not quite pleased with the practice of presenting testimonials at anniversaries; but he thought these occurrences might properly be made promotive of kindly sentiments between the teachers and the taught. If the lady who filled the responsible office of head mistress exercised for twelve months her very considerable talents, and occupied her time advantageously in the duties she owed to the youth in this school, it must conduce to a painstaking desire for their improvement to have the value of her services acknowledged by the young persons of whom she had charge, and at the same time it must be productive of good to afford young persons opportunities of learning freely to acknowledge merit. (Cheers.) Having discharged the duty of returning thanks for these presents and addresses there were a few remarks he would like to add. He had more than once experienced the gratification of attending these annual exhibitions, and distributing the prizes to the pupils for their skill and efficiency. He could not but remind them, as he had done on a former occasion, that these prizes were provided out of the private funds of their teachers, and not by any sum set apart out of the public money. In an especial degree they should possess a value to every recipient, inasmuch as they probably were the first tokens outside their own circle of friends and relatives of acknowledgment of merit in themselves. This must always be gratifying, because we were so singularly constituted that what was good in us was brought out and kept alive by a fair amount of encouragement and generous recognition. Few passed through the various changes in life, doing the best they could, without some stimulus of this kind; it was an effective influence in bringing out the finest qualities of human nature. These prizes also ought to possess a value altogether apart from their intrinsic worth, in being associated with a school where the recipients had received their instruction. It was a great blessing, not only to them but to the public generally, that there was an educational institution so well arranged and conducted as the model school, and so well adapted for training the young members of society. Especially was it a blessing to those who were favoured with its superior means of instruction. He trusted the recipients of the prizes would treasure them as long as they lived, and that however fortunate they may be, however happily circumstanced, or however rich, they would retain these little books as forming a kind of link connecting their histories with the history of this great and important school; and that whenever they cast their eyes upon them they would be reminded of the assiduity and constant attention they received at the hands of the ladies appointed to perform the duties of instructors. It was a matter of regret that the weather was so unpropitious as to limit the number of pupils present; but it must be gratifying to Mrs. M'Taggart and the other teachers that so many visitors had come through the rain, as it showed the lively interest taken by them in the welfare of the institution, and a desire on the part of the pupils to profit by their instruction. He trusted such desires would be fulfilled, and that it might be their good fortune in after life to regard as one of its brightest recollections their attendance at this school. (Cheers.)

The proceedings were brought to a close by the pupils singing the National Anthem.

Latest betting: 10 to 1 on Glencoe.

Brown Bess made the running for three parts of a mile, and was closely waited upon by Freetrader. Glencoe was kept well behind during half the distance, and was being hard held. From the abattoirs he began to go up, and at the last turn ran through his horses and won easily by about a length, with Freetrader second, and Gasometer in the third place, about three lengths behind. Yeoman was all in the rear from the very commencement, and Sunbelle was never in the race. Time, 2 minutes 22 seconds.

Hotham Handicap, sweepstakes of 5 sovereigns each, 2 ft., with 100 sovereigns added. One mile and a half and a distance.

W. Craig's b c Cœur de Lion, 3 years, 6 st (Sheringan)
E. T. Barnard's b h L. L, 5 years, 5 st 7 lbs (Swales)

Latest betting: 3 to 2 against Albany, 3 to 1 Phœbe, 4 to 1 Barwon, 5 to 1 Poison, 6 to 1 each Prætor and Aurora, 8 to 1 L. L.

A little trouble was caused in getting the lot away, but after two or three trials a good start was made. Barwon was the first to show in front, closely followed by L. L.; Cœur de Lion, Misfortune, Bishopsbourne, and Brilliant forming the front rank, Albany and Aurora together running close behind, and The Monk last. This order was followed upon passing the stand, and in rounding the river turn Barwon was still seen leading the way, a short distance in advance, with Cœur de Lion and Poison well up. The remainder had formed themselves in a cluster; but conspicuous amongst the group were the red and pink colours of Mr. Fisher; and the white and blue sash on Mr. Field's Bishopsbourne. At the far side of the course the lot began to lengthen out, and the Flying Dutchman was seen, with Poison, endeavouring to overhaul Barwon, who still retained the front place, and was going strongly and well. Prætor then managed to extricate himself from amongst the others, and by the time the abattoirs had been reached was in the second place. Poison also at this time raised the hopes and expectations of her backers, by the satisfactory manner in which she was going; but although she made up a good deal of ground, the mare never got beyond the third place. Under the hill another change of positions occurred. Aurora suddenly came out of the ruck, and ran up to the third place; Barwon hard held, and Prætor being still the foremost horses. Mr. Fisher's game little mare, without much effort, soon became level with the leaders in the race. This occurred at the last turn before coming into the straight, and at this point something like a struggle was made. Barwon, with the inside running, was being eased off when his near fore leg gave way, and he afterwards pulled up dead lame. Phœbe came up on the outside, with Miss Constance on the left of him, and Prætor a little in advance; but Aurora having once got in advance of the field, kept her place, and came in a pretty easy winner by about a length, another length separating the second and third horses. Time, 3 minutes.

The Victorian Derby, a sweepstakes of 25 sovereigns each, with 500 sovereigns added. The second horse to receive 50 sovereigns, and the third to save his stake. One mile and a half.

Mr. H. Fisher's b c Charon, by Ferryman—Juliet, 3 years, 8 st 10 lbs (Morrison) ... 1
J. Tait's ch c Detective, 3 years, 8 st 10 lbs (Stanly) ... 2
W. Pearson's br c Lamplighter, 3 years, 8 st 10 lbs (Yeoman) ... 3
T. Henry's b c Gallant, 3 years 8 st 10 lbs (Puller)
E. Lee's b c Partisan, 3 years, 8 st 10 lbs (Thompson)
W. Pearson's br f Kestrel, 3 years, 8 st 5 lbs (Waterman)
T. Austin's b g Orlando, 3 years, 8 st 7 lbs (Browne)

Latest betting: 2 to 1 on Charon; 3 to 2 against Kestrel; 4 to 1 against Detective.

The youngsters, seven in number, got off very quietly, and in capital order. The two favourites were the earliest away, Gallant and Partisan being just in their rear, and Orlando all behind. Upon rounding the river turn beyond the stand Gallant was let out, and he made the running for a little distance, but Charon kept pretty close to him until the far side of the course was reached, when Partisan ran up and soon secured such a strong lead in advance of all the others that doubts and fears were expressed as to the favourite being able to pull through, as at this time Charon was a long way behind, the second place he had vacated having been filled by Kestrel, who had been gradually pulling up. Within half a mile from home, however, Charon showed himself the splendid colt he undoubtedly is. He pulled up the distance held by Partisan in a wonderful manner, and literally ran through his horses. Upon coming round the last turn there was an exciting struggle, and notwithstanding the strenuous efforts made by some of the jockeys to shut Charon out of the race, the Ferryman colt rushed to the front, and regularly cut all the others down. From the time he got the lead his winning was next to a certainty. Kestrel fell back before him, and Partisan was forced to give way, though most unwillingly; but Detective and Lamplighter followed the favourite through. Detective made up his distance splendidly, and finished in the second place, while Lamplighter as third horse saved his stake. Kestrel was fourth, and Partisan fifth. Time, 2 minutes 55 seconds.

Essendon Stakes, of 10 sovereigns each, h. ft., with 150 sovereigns added. The winner of any race (not a handicap) of the value of 100 sovereigns, to carry 7 lbs. extra. Two miles.

Mr. A. Saqui's br g Warrior, 6 years, 9 st 10 lbs (Haynes) ... 1
H. Redwood's ch m Peeress, 4 years, 8 st 9 lbs (M'Glashan) 2
T. Bailey's ch h Glencoe, 5 years, 10 st 9 lbs (Morrison) 3
G. P. Cook's g g Saladin, 5 years, 9 st 6 lbs (Boyd)
E. T. Bernard's b f—— Fair Ellen, 3 years, 6 st 2 lbs (Swales)

Latest betting: 2 to 1 on Glencoe.

The running was made by Peeress for the best part of the distance, but Warrior kept persistently by the New Zealand mare so as to prevent her getting too far away. Glencoe ran third, but not sufficiently near the other two to make it probable that he would win; while the Fair Ellen filly and the grey Saladin brought up the rear at a respectable distance. Peeress kept in front for about a mile and a half, and it was not until they were coming round by the hill alongside the training-ground that Warrior changed places with her. The run home on the straight was performed easily by Warrior, who was kept well in hand, and finished about a length in advance of Peeress. Glencoe, who never got near the front, came in third, the others nowhere. Time, 3 minutes 51 seconds.

Footscray Plate, a sweepstakes of 5 sovereigns each, with 50 sovereigns added. One mile.

Mr. P. J. Keighran's br h Sir Walter, aged, 9 st 7 lbs (Simpson) ... 1
E. Lee's br c Misty Morn, 3 years, 7 st 7 lbs (S. Davis) ... 2
E. T. Barnard's b h Melancholy Jacques, 4 years, 9 st (Adderly) ... 3
H. Fisher's b h Blondin, 6 years 9 st 7 lb (Morrison)
J. Haimes' b g Tasman, aged, 9 st 4 lb (Cooke)
A. M'Donald's b g Sir Solomon, aged, 9 st 4 lb (Esom)
Norfolk's b g Emperor, aged, 9 st 4 lbs (Haynes)

Latest betting: 3 to 1 against Sir Solomon, 3 to 1 against Blondin, 4 to 1 against Sir Walter, 5 to 1 against Misty Morn.

This was a short spin of a mile, for which the seven competitors took up their places at the starting post near the site of the old stand. Misty Morn, having the Melancholy gentleman in company, led off, followed by the two knights, Tasman and Emperor. At the turn Sir Walter, who had previously got hidden from view, showed to the front, and came in a winner a short distance in front of Misty Morn; Melancholy Jacques third, Emperor fourth, and Blondin fifth. Sir Solomon, who was considered good at a mile, was nowhere at all throughout the race. Time 1 minute 51 seconds.

This concluded the programme of the day, and the first portion of the Spring meeting, which will be resumed on Thursday next.

THE THAMES GOLD-FIELDS NEW ZEALAND.

(From the Thames Times, October 27.)

The great advantages which are derived from the expenditure of capital in developing the resources of a gold-field, as well as in any other undertaking, can be no better exemplified than in the great success which has attended the labours of the Kurunui Gold-mining and Quartz-crushing Company. This company's ground originally comprised only the claim known as Barry's, adjoining Hunt's, and one of the first claims pegged out on the Kurunui. After a while, the adjoining claim of Hamilton's and some others were amalgamated with it, until at present the claim comprises an area of nearly twelve acres, extending from the corner of the Junction Claim on the Kurunui spur, along Hunt's boundary and the Mount Aden Company's Claims, nearly to the beach on the other side of the spur, between the Kurunui and Shellback Creek. The quartz-crushing battery of the company commenced with the old battery of six head of stampers, erected by Vickery and Masefield many months ago, and which is now increased to one of the finest quartz-crushing plants on the field. The whole number of stampers belonging to the battery is forty-eight head, erected according to the newest designs, and supplied with all the latest improvements in the details for saving gold in this field. The large body of stone which runs along the boundary of Hunt's Claim, some 20 feet wide, is at present being taken out, all of which is sent to the battery, and gives a very good return. The first shaft sunk on the claim, and known as "Stone's," brings you to the six-fathom level, where a large flat is made to receive the stone from the numerous drives which diverge from there as a common centre. No. 1 drive runs in a N.E. direction 110 feet along one of the first reefs struck in the claim, and known as "Barry's," from which a great quantity of gold has been taken. The second drive from this level runs off in a northerly direction 45 feet on another leader, which is over 10 feet thick, where a winze is put down upon it. From this leader I saw some splendid stone, resembling very much some taking from the Golden Crown Claim. Another drive, some 40 feet in length, brings you to the boundary of Hunt's Claim. The reef here (Hunt's) is four feet thick, and is now ready for taking out in large quantities. A winze is put down on the reef here, which brings you to the 20-fathom level; and a drive, which runs from another shaft, Whitaker's, put down near Hunt's boundary, is being continued to cut the winze put down from No. 2 drive at the upper level. Besides the workings on Barry's leader on the ten-fathom level, there is a large drive on a level of thirty feet from the surface, in which the whole width of the leader is being taken out, and the ground very substantially timbered.

Goodall's Prince Alfred battery is still crushing stone from the Mariners' Reef Gold-mining Company.

Souter's battery is fully engaged crushing stone from the United Company's Claim, Waiotahi, the Flying Cloud, and some from the Buninyong Claim, Tararu. The Flying Cloud stuff, although only commenced on Monday, is showing remarkably well on the plates.

The Hape Creek machine is crushing quartz from the Excelsior and the Prussian claims. The plates belonging to the battery crushing the stone from the latter claims are looking very well. The late crushing for the Young May Moon Claim gave a very good return.

BOROUGH COUNCILS.

Newtown.—A meeting of the Council was held on Tuesday, 2nd instant. Present—the Mayor, and Aldermen Bailey, Munro, Conley, Kingsbury, Bedford, and Cozens. The minutes of the previous meeting were read and confirmed. Reports: The Finance Committee brought up a report of accounts paid under votes of appropriation, amounting to £148 17s. 3d., and recommending payment of accounts, amounting to £134s. 10d. The following correspondence was then read:—1st. From Mr. James Williams, agreeing to the Council's conditions as to the purchase of 600 tons of metal. 2nd. From Mr. S. Cook, in reference to the proposed widening of the Victoria Road. The Committee for Works were then requested to take immediate steps to have the fence put back on the Victoria road to the proper alignment line. Alderman Graham brought up a report from the Committee for Works on metal delivered since last meeting. Alderman Payten brought up a report from the Finance Committee, recommending payment of sundry accounts. The report was received, and at a later period of the evening adopted. Alderman Kingsbury stated that Mr. Starkey had given the sum of £10 towards the erection of a culvert on the Terrace Road. Moved by Alderman Graham, seconded by Alderman Kingsbury, and carried,—"That his Worship the Mayor be authorised to pay into Court the sum of £25, in case Council ats. Harber." The Council then rose.

High freights continue to have a prejudicial effect upon the tallow market, and at to-day's sales prices ruled about 5s. per ton lower than last week. The Penang, from Puget Sound via San Francisco, arrived this morning, with a cargo of lumber. Her advices are to September 10th, and report nothing in the shape of breadstuffs or feeding grains likely to come to Australia for some time. The Sarah Maria sailed for Nelson on August 23rd, with a cargo of wheat. The Ruby was chartered for Dunedin, with lumber. The Adelia Carlton, for Sydney, and two vessels for Melbourne or Adelaide also bring similar cargoes. Freights were ruling very high, £3 10s. was paid readily for Liverpool direct, and £3 12s. 6d. to Cork for orders. The Herald of September 10 reports of the markets:—

Flour.—The market remains quiet and without change. We continue to quote local brands as follows:—Fine, 3 dollars 75 cents to 4 dollars; superfine, 4 dollars 37½ cents to 4 dollars 62½ cents; shipping extra, 5 dollars to 5 dollars 50 cents; bakers' and family extra, 5 dollars 62½ cents to 5 dollars 75 cents; Oregon extras range from 5 dollars 50 cents to 6 dollars.

Wheat.—Sales are 800 centals good milling, 1 dollar 60 cents; 3000 ditto good shipping, 1 dollar 60 cents; 1200 ditto ordinary, coast, 1 dollar 30 cents; 700 ditto fair milling, 1 dollar 57½ cents; 1900 ditto shipping, 1 dollar 65 cents; 500 ditto coast, 1 dollar 25 cents; 800 ditto very choice milling, 1 dollar 67½ cents. The ship Don Quixote has cleared for Liverpool with 36,258 centals valued at 63,450 dollars.

Barley.—Sales are 1200 centals good new coast, private; 400 ditto good feed, 92½ cents; 750 ditto coast, 90 cents; 400 ditto bay feed, 95 cents; 750 ditto coast, 90 cents. We give the range of new at 87½ cents to 1 dollar; the latter figure refers to round lots of shipping.

Oats.—Californian range from 1 dollar 15 cents to 1 dollar 40 cents. Sale of 300 centals, 1 dollar 40 cents; 340 ditto common, 1 dollar 15 cents; 800 ditto good, 1 dollar 25 cents.

We take the following from Messrs. Mort and Co.'s Wool Circular for the outgoing Mail.

The copious and timely rainfall in the early part of last month has happily dissipated the expectations that had been formed of an early season, and, by placing an abundant supply of water at the disposal of most of our woolgrowers, has enabled them to suspend shearing operations to wash their sheep, and thus avoid the inconvenience of having to send their wool to market in the grease. Six weeks ago, it was fully anticipated that an unusually heavy amount of unwashed wool from New South Wales and the adjoining colonies, would have to bear the brunt of the increased rates for carriage and freight levied on wools in this state. We may now confidently assume that a very large proportion of the clip will come to market in its most acceptable form—as washed wool. The quantity of new wool that has as yet come under our observation is scarcely sufficient to warrant us in pronouncing on the general character and condition of the coming clip. What we have seen leads us to fear that very few Northern wools will be found free from grass seed. On the other hand, we are in good hopes that Western and Southern wools will be freer than usual, of fair growth, and considerably above the average in condition. Here it may not be out of place to touch upon the much vexed question of "hot water washing;" a system that is believed by many to have been strongly condemned by several of the London wool brokers. We cannot help thinking the remarks these high authorities have felt it their duty to make on the subject have been somewhat misunderstood. Unless we are very much mistaken, it was not against the use, but the abuse of hot water. Washing these gentlemen entered their protest. That the system, through ignorance and inexperience, has been abused, admits of little doubt. The first experiments in "hot water and spout washing, with the use of soap and soda," were first attempted on anything like an extended scale, on some of the stations in the Western District of Victoria, and were attended with the happiest results. The excessive hardness of the water supply on most of these stations justified, and indeed necessitated, the liberal use of soda. Under the idea that soda was the universal specific, its use soon became general, even in districts where nature required no such counteracting agent. The results are too well known to require recapitulation, and merely prove the truth of the old saying, that "one man's meat is another man's poison." The very ingredient that gave softness and colour to the Victorian Western wools imparted a dryness and a harshness of touch to wools got up in localities where the water was of a different and superior quality. From this it will be seen that it will not do to follow blindly any system of woolwashing, but that every squatter must make an intelligent use of the tools he has to work with, and ascertain by careful experiment the mode of washing best calculated to secure the brightness, without injuring the elasticity of his wool. Nor should it be forgotten that spout and hot water washing, which enhance the value of well-bred wools, only serve to expose in a more glaring manner the defects of lower qualities. Close attention to breeding, careful packing and classification, and a liberal abstraction of locks and pieces, are of far more importance to the man who has not yet succeeded in obtaining a reputation as a breeder than hot water washing. The arrival of the Avoca, on the 28th October, with English advices up to the 9th September, set at rest any doubts entertained of the truth of the telegram brought by the previous mail, reporting an advance of 1½d per lb. on the opening rates of the August-September sales. Catalogues and account sales fully confirm this advance, which is most marked in low qualities, and least perceptible in secured wools, which appear to be still very much neglected. A good harvest, partial revival of trade, and above all, the determination, taken by importers, to support the market by numerous withdrawals, are no doubt the causes that have contributed to this favourable reaction. The absence of French competition is still complained of. However anxious French buyers may be to operate on the scale to which they have been lately accustomed, they cannot afford to disregard the possibility of contingencies, sure to arise in the event of the Emperor's illness terminating fatally. "What will happen when the Emperor dies?" is the question every one asks and no one seems able to answer. But we may be sure that the immediate effect of his death, come when it may, will be anything but favourable to holders of wool. In view of this impending calamity, and of the present healthy demand for wool, at fair rates, in the Sydney market, we again urge upon our friends to consider whether it may not be better to realise at once on their clips than to accept the risk of shipment to London.

Messrs. Burrows and Perks's grain circular for the Australian mail of September 10th reports of the London market:—

Late on the day that the last mail left, and some hours after our report was printed, a considerable business was transacted in both wheat and flour at a decided advance, especially on the latter; the cause being very heavy rain, and with every sign of its continuing. However, it cleared off; and in all the large wheat districts there has been uninterruptedly fine weather from that day till the 5th instant, when the thunder showers became general in our Midland and Southern counties, but the harvest was concluded before that day, except in some parts of the North and in Scotland.

The Artemesia, the only vessel overdue with wheat from Adelaide, arrived yesterday, completing the last of those on passage; and we are not aware of any further shipments from thence at present.

On the 13th ultimo, about 1000 to 1200 quarters Adelaide wheat, just landed ex Amazon, Cisnalpine, &c., were sold at 57s per 496 lbs.; on 16th (the highest day for wheat), about 500 quarters of fine quality, ex Amazon, brought 58s; on 20th, some of the same parcel realised 57s; on 23rd, a further fall took place, and a small parcel (not quite so good) ex Arab Steed, was sold at 55s; and on 30th the Amazon's cargo was cleared at 55s and 56s, according to quality, since which there has been none on offer. Flour has followed the decline in wheat, the highest figure having been reached on the 13th ultimo, when about 1800 to 1900 bags of fine brands, ex Arab Steed, and 200 bags ex Amazon, were sold at 40s per 280 lbs., landed; 200 bags Colman's, ex Charlotte, at 39s 6d; and 250 bags (somewhat inferior) ex Amazon, at 38s 6d. For about a fortnight after that day scarcely any sales were made, buyers appearing to have rather overbought, and consequently the price fell to 37s on the 30th, when 200 bags Colman's, ex Charlotte, were sold at that figure, and recovered to 38s on the 3rd instant, since which there has been but a small demand, and the trade must be noted dull for both articles; but Adelaide wheat would meet a better demand than flour if there were any on sale. The present market values would be 55s to 56s per 496 lbs for best Australian wheat, and 37s to 38s per 28 lbs for flour, both in granary.

Our wheat harvest is now finished, and the whole has been got in in fine condition, but the yield varies considerably in all districts, from 3 quarters to 6 quarters per acre, and much is thin and light, about 59 lbs to 60 lbs per bushel, and only exceptional samples weigh over 62 lbs. Some of the fine reds, as nursery, &c., are as much as 64 lbs and 64½ lbs in weight, but this is by no means the rule, and, from the ascertained results of the thrashings to this date, we must conclude that this year's crop is rather below an average one, and, weight for weight, not equal to much more than half of the splendid crop of last year. Farmers have been too busy in the fields to send more than small supplies to market, and this has caused a recovery this week of 1s to 2s per quarter in the price of their new wheat, but, with larger supplies during the next three or four weeks, a further slight decline is almost inevitable. Old and foreign are generally held with great firmness for full prices, but are not in large request, as most of the leading millers hold good stocks of them.

The large overdue Black Sea fleet of wheat and maize has just begun to arrive at Falmouth and Queenstown; all good qualities of the former article will doubtless be in request for mixing with the new crop, but the latter article has already fallen 1s per quarter, and a further decline may be expected, as the arrivals exceed the demand.

Our last quotations from San Francisco are of wheat 50s per 500 lbs, and of flour 33s per 280 lbs, both cost and freight to Liverpool. The quantity of wheat on passage from thence has now increased to 30 large cargoes, besides 42 from New York and 4 from Montreal. From all ports there are now 432 cargoes on passage, against 299 in the same week last year; and, with the expectation of large further arrivals from New York between this and next January, we see no prospect of a decided (if any) advance in our prices here.

MR. ROBERTSON AND SIR JAMES MARTIN.

To the Editor of the Herald.

Sir,—Mr. Wisdom comes forward to the rescue to-day, and says "I feel it due to Sir James Martin, to state that I do not remember a case in which Sir James Martin, having promised to subscribe £250 in aid of a mutual friend of himself and Mr. Robertson, afterwards refused to pay the money."

Your readers will look in vain in my letters for any such allegation. I not only did not specify the exact amount, as Mr. Wisdom does, but absolutely did not say aught about a promise at all.

Sir James may well exclaim "Save me from my friends."

Your obedient servant,
JOHN ROBERTSON.

WINDSOR.

[From our Correspondent.]

Police Office, Saturday.—Before Messrs. M'Quade and Moses, Justices of the Peace.—James Clarke, of North Rocks, farmer, after several hearings, was finally committed for trial at the ensuing Quarter Sessions, on a charge of stealing a bullock, the property of John Curtis, in July, 1868. Prisoner's wife had been previously tried upon the same charge and acquitted, and it seemed that she sold the hide of the bullock in question to one of the Windsor tanners named Alderson. Clark shortly afterwards disappeared, and was not heard of till last month, when he was apprehended at Tamworth. Bail was refused.

CUMBERLAND AND CAMDEN BATHURST BURR AND THISTLE BILL.

To the Members of the Legislative Assembly, per favour of the Sydney Morning Herald.

GENTLEMEN,—Having carefully perused the proposed bill, and knowing the importance, by experience, of the subject of which it treats, I fully agree with Mr. Roberts, that it is absolutely necessary that something should be done to eradicate the thistle, which is becoming a very serious pest, and will, in a few years, render thousands of acres of land in this colony valueless. But I must take exception to the method he proposes to eradicate the plant; for if his bill be passed in its present state, and carried out strictly, it will be attended with the greatest injustice and the greatest oppression to individuals, and in many cases it will lead to the confiscation of property. The following are my objections to the bill:—

First. It will place landlords completely at the mercy of their tenants—for the bill does not give the landlord power to go on to the tenant's land to eradicate the thistle, but compels the tenant to do it, and gives him the power to deduct the cost out of his rent. Now an unscrupulous tenant with several sons might make an excellent living out of such a clause, for the law would allow 5s. a day for a labourer's wages, and the landlord would have no check against the tenant as to the number of days it might take to eradicate the plant, for he would not be in a position to contradict him. Therefore, probably not only would the landlord lose all his rent, but he might also be brought into debt, and that not only for one year, but for as long as the tenant's lease lasts. For the tenant will find it too good a thing to let the thistles die out too soon, and he might possibly sow a few seeds, to have something to do for the following year.

Second. That many estates are so thoroughly overrun with the thistle, that neither the tenant nor the landlord would be in a position to engage labour to eradicate it, especially within fourteen days—and probably in some cases not in several years; for I believe the seed will lie in the ground for several years without germinating, and then spring up.

Third. That Courts of Petty Sessions are not the proper places to have the provisions of the Act carried out, for the magistrates themselves, in nine cases out of ten, would be the parties against whom informations ought to be laid, being generally the greatest landholders in the various districts; consequently the Act, in many places, would not be taken advantage of.

Fourth. The 2nd clause virtually gives the power to any two neighbours to oppress, and in many cases to ruin, any individual who may have a large estate subject to this thistle; for on an estate such as the one I occupy there are deep gullies and rocky ravines into which it would be difficult for a man to crawl, but, where, nevertheless, the thistle finds its way. It would be exceedingly difficult in such a case to wholly eradicate it; and it is quite possible for half-a-dozen men to be parading the run for a whole year for the purpose of destroying the plant, and then fail to do so after all. This bill renders the owner or occupier liable to be fined £20 every thirty days, on the information of "any person" who, by diligent search, might espy a thistle growing, even if it should be growing in the most inaccessible place.

Fifth. The third clause is not sufficient to protect any person against whom any magistrate has any ill-feeling, and no Act of Parliament should put it in the power of any two men to inflict such an irreparable injury as is given by this bill.

Sixth. There is nothing in the bill to show on whom the fine is to be inflicted, whether on the tenant or landlord. But by the fourth clause it is to be presumed that the tenant is to be ruined first, by successive £20 fines every thirty days, and then when he is annihilated, the landlord is to be served in the same way. But perhaps the most objectionable feature in the whole bill is that no power is given to the owner to go on to the tenant's land (for he has no power by the common law); but yet he is to be made liable to have his estate confiscated by the neglect or wilful misconduct of his tenant, who, instead of eradicating the plant, might wilfully propagate it, knowing that the cost of eradication would ultimately fall on the landlord.

These are some of the principal objections that may be made to the bill; and to obviate them, I beg respectfully to submit to the House the following suggestions for its consideration:—

First. Let a proclamation be made by the Government, giving notice to all landholders to destroy the Bathurst burr and thistle (and I would suggest the cotton plant and sweet briar be also included) within 12 months of the date of the proclamation.

Second. At the end of that period let the Government appoint inspectors, giving them power to employ labour to eradicate the plant.

Third. Let the whole cost of this be made a rent charge on the land, to spread over a period of ten years.

Fourth. Let the owner or occupier receive a written notice from the Government of the cost incurred in eradicating the plant from his land, including inspectors' salary, interest of money, &c., and demand that one-tenth part be paid by them into the Treasury yearly for ten years, and in default make them liable to a fine of £10 per centum on the amount due for neglect, and give the Government the power to distrain for the same as for rent; and if not sufficient distress is found, let a portion of the freehold be sold, giving the tenant his remedy against his landlord for loss. By this method the obnoxious plants may be thoroughly eradicated, and the cost will fall on the parties beneficially interested, and without being oppressive to any; and those who have hitherto been the most neglectful in allowing the plant to spread, will be the greatest sufferers. But in no case could any injustice be done, or any hardship or oppression take place.

Yours, &c.,
CLEMENTS LESTER.

Denham Court, 3rd November.

BUTTER.

To the Editor of the Herald.

SIR,—In connection with your report of the meeting at Shoalhaven, reported in last week's Mail, the following remarks may not be out of place:—

1. That the price of butter during the last seven years has averaged nearly as high in these colonies as in England.

2. That in place of 15d., from 9d. to 11d. would be a probable figure to quote as the price of salt butter in the home market.

3. That packing, packages, freight to Sydney, thence to London, insurances, commission, &c., would not fall short of 2d. to 2½d. per lb.

4. That there is a doubt whether the commodity would reach the market in a condition to command any reasonable price at all.

Taking the above into consideration, the following ideas, suggested by some little experience, have occurred to me. In dairy districts, associations should at once be formed on something like the following plan. A committee should be formed, and issue shares to a sufficient amount to work the concern. Having procured proper premises for salting, packing, storing, &c., they should engage a competent person to manage the work. As soon as butter is below a remunerative price, buy up from the settlers at a stated rate—say 3d. or 4d. per lb. Keep a record of all bought from each settler. This butter to be packed, and placed in any colonial market as opportunity offers. There should be a yearly division of profits, the settlers supplying the butter participating in the same at the same rate as the shareholders, according to the amount of the value of the butter supplied by them to the company, or in any other proportion agreed upon. All butter to be repacked and branded by company's workmen, to secure uniformity in quality, and reliability on company's brand. By above plan, settlers, many of whom cannot wait, would get a certain small amount of cash to go on with, and some prospective profits. Experience would be gained in curing, &c., so that should the home or any other market eventually be decided upon, a fair judgment of the probabilities of success might be aimed at. The above are only a few hints to be enlarged upon, or modified to suit circumstances. I knew of a person in Sydney who made a fair income by curing butter, and keeping it for higher rates.

CHARLES A. SCRIVENER.

FIRE ON SHIPBOARD.

To the Editor of the Herald.

SIR—The Melbourne Underwriters' Association, and several Insurance Companies in Sydney, being of opinion that New Zealand flax is liable to take fire by spontaneous combustion, or its proximity to cargo having the power to ignite it, have decided on classing it as dangerous, and charging an extra premium, to cover the extra risk.

That sufficient grounds exist to justify this decision, or the contrary, I do not inquire; but, accepting the decision as given, I beg to call attention to the probable effect, viz., a branch of colonial industry crippled in its infancy, and that, too, an industry I am told, which, if left free and unfettered, would rapidly become one of great importance.

Presuming the alleged danger to exist, are there no means by which this danger can be averted? follows as a natural question. Would rinsing the flax in a solution of alum or other salts make it fireproof; and, if so, would it leave the flax uninjured. And if the answer is "Yes," then comes the most important question of all! Would it pay.

My own opinion is that no preparation before shipment, or supervision while shipping, will prevent a vessel laden with a colonial cargo from taking fire, should certain causes combine—causes not yet determined, but by their effects known to exist. I therefore beg to call the attention of those interested, to devise some simple but effective mode of extinguishing fire in a vessel's hold, and thus cure, without sacrifice of life, what cannot at present be prevented, owing to our ignorance of the cause.

By a letter which appeared in your issue of January 19th, 1868, I addressed you on this subject; unfortunately, instead of causing those most interested in the matter to take steps for the discovery and adoption of some certain means of annihilating fire on shipboard, it only gave rise to a useless wordy war, in which the above object was lost sight of, and the only result, so far as I know, was the successful tearing to pieces, between friends and foes of, a scheme I had suggested from well-known principles, and which I only desired to have tested by experiment; and now I shall be careful not to renew the subject, though I must confess, when I learn from eye-witnesses the wonderful power of L'Extinguisheur, to extinguish fire in the open air, and am told that the principle is the same as the one I suggested for the ship's hold, I am silent, but not convinced.

I feel sad when I think that since the time of that discussion more casualties have been added to the already melancholy list. The Omar Pacha, from Brisbane, and the Blue Jacket, from New Zealand, both totally destroyed by fire; and if no lives have been lost, many have through exposure in the boats been maimed for life. The Canaan, from our own port, was only saved from the same fate as these vessels by a combination of fortunate circumstances. I think these and other instances demand some immediate action in this matter.

In a letter inserted in the Herald of June 10th, 1868, amongst other fire annihilators, I mention steam. The adaptation of this to our regular traders would be a very easy matter, seeing they are already supplied with engine and boiler. But first must be determined the amount of steam required, and again, would such boilers be able to generate the quantity required? These results could easily be determined, and, if found in favour of the present boilers, the very first vessel that leaves the port could be fitted to save the risk from fire. But if the boilers at present in use are too small, larger ones could easily be got, provided the size of the boiler required was not so great as to make the plan impracticable; and if such should prove to be the case, surely the subject is worthy the attention of some of our scientific men, who, I donot not, will be able to suggest some safe and effective method of annihilating fire on shipboard.

Since writing the above, another colonial trader has been added to the list, viz., the Lightning.

THE SUEZ CANAL.

To the Editor of the Herald.

SIR,—It is stated by the Rev. Francis O'Farrell, in his letter of October 21, namely:—"When English engineers looked upon the project for the opening of the Isthmus as a baseless dream—when English capitalists grew pale, &c., the Catholic nation took it up, with what result is now seen." I have nothing to do with the object of this statement—but it is not true.

The following is contained in the diplomatic correspondence, published by the United States, in a letter from Mr. S. Thayer, Consul at Alexandria, dated 31st April, 1863, addressed to Mr. Seward.

I remain, &c.,
IMPARTIAL.

November 5.

"Another testimony to the practicability of the Suez maritime canal has lately been given by Mr. Hawkshaw, president of the London Society of Engineers. Towards the end of the last year this gentleman, who is, perhaps, the most eminent hydraulic engineer of Great Britain, was engaged by the late Viceroy to come from England and report impartially on the question of the canal. He accordingly made a long and laborious investigation along the line of the works on the isthmus, and has prepared a very elaborate report, which will soon be published. In this report he arrives at two conclusions, viz.:—

"1st. There is nothing in the work to be done which presents any extraordinary difficulty in execution, and no probability of any circumstance which will produce difficulties that an able engineer could not surmount.

"2nd. That no difficulties will be encountered to hinder the easy and effective maintenance of the work when it shall have been achieved; and that to keep it in good and working order, there will be no necessity of incurring any extraordinary or disproportionate annual expense. It is supposed that Mr. Hawkshaw's report will dissipate the notion of the impracticability of the canal—a notion founded on the opinion of Mr. Robert Stephenson, who had never seen the isthmus, and who, though eminent in railway enterprises, was, unlike Mr. Hawkshaw, no authority in regard to canals and hydraulic engineering."

THE DOG NUISANCE ACT.

To the Editor of the Herald.

SIR,—Your report of the proceedings at the Water Police Court on Tuesday and Wednesday last omits to mention the contrary decisions of the Bench, in cases from St. Leonards, under the Dog Nuisance Act. On the former day a number of informations were dismissed or withdrawn, it being held by the Bench that the dogs should be registered in the town in which they were intended to be kept. On the latter day a number of persons were fined for not registering their dogs by a certain day in the town of Sydney. The uncertainty in administering the law is interesting and important to the residents of the suburbs of Sydney which have been proclaimed "Towns," under the Country Towns Police Acts, and to which towns the Dog Act has been extended by notice in the Gazette, dated 16th October, 1863, and worded as the undermentioned Townships, without in any way defining the bounds of the so called townships.

The Dog Nuisance Act, 6 William 4, No. 4, names the town of Sydney, and several other of the older towns, and also provides that the Act may be extended to such other towns as the Governor may think fit. The towns named in the Act have all along had Petty Sessions held in them according to law, and their boundaries have been defined and marked many years ago. The Country Towns Police Act enables the Governor to appoint police magistrates, &c., who shall be charged with various duties, amongst which he is to "perambulate the limits of the town annually, and to make a record thereof, to be filed and kept in the office of the Clerk of the Peace for each of the said towns;" but in many of these towns, no police magistrate nor Clerk of the Peace has been appointed, consequently there is no place in such towns for registering dogs.

The mode of registering under the Dog Act is as follows:—Clause 2. "And be it enacted that every such registration shall be made by the owner or keeper of any dog intended to be registered, or some person on his or her behalf, delivering at the Police-office or office of Petty Sessions of the town in which it is intended to be kept, a description of such dog, embracing the several particulars contained in the form, in the schedule to this Act, marked with the letter A.

From the wording of this clause, and from the general tenure of the Act, and the schedules to it, it appears conclusive to me that it was never intended to compel the people of one town to register their dogs in another town. The receipt given at the Water Police Office for registration of dogs in the town of St. Leonards is for the district of Sydney, which is, in my opinion, contrary to law, and calculated to mislead the public.

I am not opposed to the law, which is intended to abate the admitted nuisance occasioned by the great number of curs roaming about the streets of populous places, but I object to the boundaries of some of the towns brought under this law, and instance St. Leonards, which extends from the harbour of Port Jackson to Long Bay, Middle Harbour, a considerable distance to the northward of the Willoughby Waterfall; a large portion of which town is almost a wilderness. To hunt up by domiciliary visits and impertinent trespass and intrusion by the police the few watch-dogs in this neighbourhood, and drag their owners to the Police Office, Sydney, and, in some instances, poor people, ultimately to gaol, or to sell off their household furniture, perhaps their bed, is, in my judgment, little short of persecution and cruelty, and should not be tolerated any longer. In these days of retrenchment, if our police have no more legitimate occupation than intruding into every bush hut or isolated cottage in this wild, called the town of St. Leonards, it occurs to me we could dispense with the services of one of them, and save the colony more money than will be raised for the Treasury by excessive zeal for prosecutions under the Dog Act.

I am, &c.,
WILLIAM TUNKS.

Since writing the above, I am informed that to-day a number of informations were dismissed, as on Tuesday.

COMMERCIAL.

PRODUCE CIRCULARS.

MORT AND CO.—Wool: At our sale on Thursday last we were enabled, for the first time this season, fairly to test the market. Our catalogue comprised 742 bales, including greasy, washed fleece, and scoured wools of the new clip, all of which were quitted at highly satisfactory quotations, or have since been sold privately. Scoured wools in very beautiful condition realised as high as 20½d, which is certainly a very high figure, considering how neglected this class of wool appears to be in the English market. Sheepskins were in moderate supply, and must be quoted without alteration in price for fair woolled parcels free of seed, which description are in good demand; but seedy lots are not cared for. We cleared our catalogue as detailed at foot. Hides: The number to hand for this morning's sale was smaller than for some considerable time past, and did not comprise any lots of extra weight or quality. All offered were purchased by the trade at an advance on late rates. Horse hides in fair request at from 3s to 4s 6d per hide. Tallow: The scarcity of tonnage continues but prices have, with slight exception, been maintained for good shipping lots. Our sales this afternoon were from £31 5s to £32 15s for mixed, £33 15s to £34 10s for beef, and £31 per ton for mutton. Hair realised 13½d to 14d per lb. IRWIN AND TURNER.—Wool: The sales of yesterday were well attended, and a large quantity of the staple changed hands for shipment at a slight advance on previous sales. Several very choice parcels of fleece were brought forward, and realised from 17d to 20d per lb according to quality. Sheepskins are without alteration in value since last report. We submitted and sold some 20,000 skins as follows:—Full-growth, 3d to 4½d; shorts and pelts, 1d to 2½d per lb. Tallow: This market is depressed, owing to the high rates of freight now ruling. The bulk of the lots sold show a decline in price on previous sales. Hides: The supply for the week was unusually small, and quite insufficient for local requirements. Quotations may be given as follows:—Cured and heavy, 16s to 19s; small and light, 10s to 13s; inferior, 7s to 10s; extra weights, 20s to 22s each. Leather: There was a fair attendance of buyers at to-day's sale. The demand was limited to a few lots of kip, sole, and harness, for which full prices were given. Calf, 2s 6d to 3s 6d; kip, 1s 2d to 1s 7d; harness, 10d to 12d; sole, 7d to 9d per lb. Wool: Greasy, RF in diamond, 1 bale at 6½d; ditto, B&C, 1 at 6d; fleece, HP conjoined, 4 at 11½d; greasy, RR, 24 at 5d; locks ditto, 3 at 2½; greasy, X over RR, 11 at 5½d; fleece Strathmore, 7 at 10½d; pieces, ditto, at 5½d; scoured, R in diamond, 9 at 13½d; ditto, triangle over Mudgee, 4 at 13½d; ditto, ditto over F, 3 at 9½d; ditto, T, 8 at 8½d; greasy, LODR, 6 at 6½d; pieces, ditto, 2 at 3½d per lb. STOCK AND STATION CIRCULARS.

WANT AND SIMPSON.—Stations: We can report since our last a decided improvement in the demand for stations generally, owing no doubt to the encouraging news by the last mail of a slight rise in the wool market, which has to a certain extent upset the panic which has for some months past existed with regard to pastoral interests. Cattle Stations, of fattening propensities, are very ready of sale, more especially those lightly stocked; the late general rains having had the effect of stimulating purchasers a little. Sheep stations are still unsaleable if outside the markets or with much land carriage. Store Cattle: There is some difficulty in closing any transactions in these, owing to the fact that mustering is going on, and vendors wait the results before concluding sales. Store Sheep: Owing to the fact of its being shearing time there are not likely to be any sales of importance until the wool is off. There are several buyers from Liverpool Plains in town, who intend turning their paddocks into fattening stock, instead of breeding, and are on the look-out for some good lots of fattening ages.—November 5.

SULLIVAN AND TINDALE.—Fat Cattle: Market fully supplied, and quite equal to the demand. Opening sales at the beginning of the week shewed evident signs of a downward tendency, which has ultimately been borne out at closing sales, prices having given way fully 15s to 20s per head since last quotations. We quote best pens of heavy prime bullocks, £6 6s; best heavy cows, £5 to £5 10s; mixed sexes, fair quality, from £4 7s 6d to £4 15s. Our sales have been 112 Wadge's, good quality and mixed sexes at an average of £5 10s 4d; 147 Cameron and Ferry's fair quality, mixed sexes, average £4 7s 6d. Sheep: Market fully supplied with good quality, prices range from 9s to 10s, wool on; and shorn in proportion according to weight and quality. Our sales have been 1900 wethers at 8s 6d, M'Culloch's; and 1400 ewes at 6s 6d, M'Culloch's.—November 5.

GEORGE KISS.—Business throughout the week has been very quiet, though a great many horses, notwithstanding, have been quitted, but that is on account of sales being held daily. The stock brought to market is in general only middling, and the few good horses which now and then appear find ready purchasers at fair prices. The following are the week's quotations:—Mr. Wilson's lot, from Kiama, sold at from £4 15s to £17 10s; a cart horse, from Shoalhaven, for £22 10s; numerous other horses at from £5 to £20. Imported stock from £1 to £5. Unbroken Stock: At Camperdown, on Tuesday, a mob, on account of Mr. Neich, sold at from £1 5s to £12 5s, average £5 17s; Mr. Williams's batch (only middling) went at from £1 to £8, average £2 16s 6d. There is an active demand for cart stock, and anything really heavy would realise long figures.—November 5.

THOMAS DAWSON.—Fat Cattle: No alteration to report; ruling prices for best mobs, 15s to 16s per 100lbs. Fat Sheep: Really good flocks of wethers are in demand at slightly advanced rates. Store Cattle: As the season advances inquiries are not so plentiful. Store Sheep: Transactions are suspended until after shearing. Horses: Market much improved, and good colts meet with a ready sale. Stations: I have several inquiries, and some satisfactory sales of fat cattle properties have been made during the week.—November 5.

G. M. PITT.—Fat Cattle: The numbers offered this week have not been beyond requirements, which has caused prices to remain firm. The quality and condition of the cattle now in the market are far superior to anything I have seen for a considerable time. I have a very superior lot for sale on Monday next. My sales have been—106 head of Doyle's, at £5 1s 8d; 134 head of G. D. Lane's, at £5 3s; 131 head of Delany's, at £5 2s. Fat Sheep: Market well supplied, and prices remain unchanged. At the abattoirs best mutton is still selling at 1d per lb. wholesale. Woolled sheep are in demand, more especially prime ewes. Considerable competition exists for this kind of stock, in consequence of the numbers required for the private boiling establishments now at work. My sales have been—2228 Sharpley's ewes and wethers; mixed ewes, at 8s 3d; wethers, at 9s 4d; 500 Gibson's shorn, at 6s 9d.—November 5.

ETTERSHANK, EAGLESTONE, AND CO.—Fat Cattle: A full supply, and prices have given way from 10s to 20s per head—quality generally good. We quote best beef from 15s to 16s per 100 lbs., according to quality. Fat sheep are very plentiful; but prices continue steady, as boiling is being largely carried on. Prices realised this week have been—wethers, 50 to 54 lbs in wool, 7s 6d to 8s 3d; shorn, 5s to 6s; ewes, in wool, 6s 6d to 6s 9d. Store Stock.—Cattle: As yet no active inquiries have commenced; but as there are few herds in this colony or Queensland that can produce 1000 bullocks of fattening ages, we expect that as the demand sets in full prices must be paid. Breeding cows are wanted; and we could place several lots. Sheep are not much dealt in. We have no transactions of our own to report; and we do not hear of any sales being made.—November 4.

GOLDSBROUGH, BUNT, AND CO.—Fat Cattle: The supply this week has been considerably over the demand, and prices have given way from 10s to 15s per head. Best beef, 15s per 100 lbs. Fat Calves: Market full and prices low; from 17s 6d to 30s for prime quality. Fat Sheep: Small supply compared to previous weeks; more competition for all sorts, with an advance of from 6d to 1s 6d per head, according to quality and weight. The carcase price at Glebe Island is still ⅞d and 1d per lb., otherwise with short supply this week, prices should have advanced far more than they did. Our sales this week consist of the balance of Messrs. Bunt and Crawford's wedders, from 8s 8d to 8s 9d; ewes at 7s 10d; also 1000 wedders at 8s. Fat Lambs: Market moderately supplied, prices range from 4s to 12s 6d. We sold 20 Christison's at 10s; 20 Dine's at 12s 6d; 40 M'Innes's at 7s. Store Stock: Very little movement; good lots of mixed sexes are saleable for the Southern market, deliverable at Dubbo, Forbes, and Wagga Wagga, from £3 10s to £4. The glut of stock in the Melbourne market is likely to affect both demand and price.—November 5.

COMPULSORY EDUCATION.

THE following remarks on compulsory education appear in the Monthly Paper of the National Society for September, although it is expressly stated that their appearance in that periodical does not necessarily imply that they represent the views of the committee of that society as a body:—

"Can a general compulsory system of attendance at school be applied in agricultural districts? This question naturally arises out of some remarks made a short time ago in the House of Commons by Professor Fawcett, the member for Brighton, who appeared to think that the principle of the Factory Acts is capable of general application in England. It would obviously be a waste of effort, and an embarrassing upsetting of our social arrangements, to introduce either compulsory or half-time systems of school attendance in rural districts if there were not at least a reasonable prospect that such systems would succeed. Where children work together in large numbers, as in factories and mills, there was, of course, a reasonable prospect of success before half-time and compulsory systems were tried. What prospect of success is there now in agricultural districts? At first sight, and indeed after mature consideration, it seems that compulsory measures of attendance in rural districts can be applied only by the agency of the rural police. There must be officers armed with powers to hunt out absentees from school, to inquire into the causes of their absence, and to bring the wandering scholars back within the school walls. If each county could be divided into school districts, it would be absolutely necessary to employ, in each district, officers specially appointed to discharge the duties just referred to, or else to use machinery already existing. The best existing machinery, as has been said, is the rural police. We may consider what would be the duties of the police in relation to the schools. In the first place they would be obliged to go to all the schools in every district, either every day or every week, to examine minutely the registers of attendance, for the purpose of ascertaining the names of all the children absent from school; at least, if the police did not do this, the teachers would have to send to them complete lists of the absentees. Let us now imagine the police with these lists in their hands. They would be obliged to go off in all directions to the homes of the absentees—to scour the country, in fact, in search of defaulters. It has been the custom lately to lay many new duties on the police (in other words to utilise them to the fullest extent), but it is, perhaps not saying too much to assert that the imposition upon them of this new office of visiting the homes of the poor for the purpose of finding out absentees from school would oblige us, at least at first, to double our staff of rural police throughout the country—a process which might be found to be a somewhat expensive one, and to weigh heavily on the already overburdended taxpayer. We will now imagine police constable No. 48, X division, standing with his list in hand in the home of one of the absentees. It is a winter's day, we will suppose. Our 'active and intelligent functionary, asks why the young absentee has not made his appearance at school during several days, and receives from the half starved mother the answer, 'His father has been out of work for some weeks, and the child has no shoes.' Now what is constable 48, X division, to do in this perplexing case? As ours happens to be an inclement climate in winter, shoes are necessaries rather than luxuries. There is, we know, a particular article of dress of which it is said you cannot rob a Scotch Highlander; and it seems quite as difficult an operation to force an agricultural labourer, out of work, with a starving family and perhaps a sickly wife, to provide shoes when he has not a single penny in his pocket. So that, in the very supposable case under consideration, we see that the Government, if it were to persist in forcing its scheme of education by law, would be obliged either to find work for the father or shoes for the child. Paternal despotism seldom succeeds. The State could not very well find work for all unemployed fathers; and as to finding shoes for the children, we should like to hear what our taxpayers or the Right Honorable Mr. Lowe, our Chancellor of the Exchequer, would say. There is another point which, in considering the subject of compulsory education, must not be forgotten. It would be necessary to have penalties for parents who neglected to send a child to school. What are these penalties to be? Obviously, they must be either fines or imprisonment. You would hardly flog a poor labourer, especially as flogging in the army has been abolished; this idea, therefore, must be discarded. Suppose you impose a fine on a man and he has no money with which to pay it; in that case he must be sent to prison. Well, Hodge is, we will suppose, safe in prison for not sending his child to school. Pray, will any one solve this particular problem—What is to become of the man's wife and family while he is serving his time in the prison house? They cannot be allowed to starve. Society has a well-defined duty towards them, and society cannot evade the duty. No, society would have to step in and maintain Hodge's wife and family while he was in prison, and we scarcely need add that society would in the end find this a somewhat expensive and embarrassing undertaking. The groans of the tax-payer are already sufficiently loud. It might be supposed that an extreme case is being here put before the reader; but is it not as clear as crystal that if you have a law you must of necessity have penalties for a breach of it, and what can such penalties be but either fines or imprisonment? But does it not seem a harsh act to say to a poor woman with a lot of young children, and who is perhaps often drooping or generally ill, 'You shall not have the occasional services of your daughter at home to nurse a sick child, or to take charge of the little ones?' Surely an early acquaintance with domestic duties and an early cultivation of a helpful disposition are as important as education. It may be the case that many children are sent to work at too early a period in life, and this, of course, has its evils, but we must, on the other hand, remember that it has its countervailing advantages. If early labour creates and fosters a spirit of independence of poor-rates, a spirit which keeps a person from sinking down to the lowest level of pauperism, that spirit should by all means be encouraged. The truth is, this question of compulsory education is so extensive, its ramifications are so numerous, that it cannot be fully discussed in one essay. It is useless, however, to discuss its theoretical aspect; it must be looked at on its practical side, for the question will ever be, not whether compulsory education is in itself desirable, but whether in a country like England you can now begin to establish it."

THE INTERNATIONAL BOAT RACE.

THE SCENE IN NEW YORK ON THE ARRIVAL OF THE NEWS.

(From the New York Herald, August 28.)

A THOUSAND ragged and bare-footed urchins went racing like couriers and hallooing like savages through the streets, shortly after 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon, proclaiming as they went the news of an event which was looked forward to with more genuine interest than any other since the night of the Presidential election. The cry was varied somewhat, but the purport was the same among them all. "Hey! de extree! Full account o' d' Oxferd boat-race!" "Here y' are! extree! All about d' great boat-race!" At intervals of a few yards the boys were stopped in their flight, their bundles of extras flapping like wings as they ran, and excited pedestrians, old men and young men, business men and walking gents, shopkeepers and clerks, hackmen and policemen, fumbled in their pockets for the two cents wherewith to purchase the news. Like lightning the general information was conveyed, "The Harvards are beaten." But the people wanted to learn more. They wanted every syllable in the precise form in which it had been flashed electrically along the bed of the great ocean; and, though the announcement that America's crack crew had been defeated was almost universally unwelcome news, there was great anxiety to know by what time or distance they had been beaten, and under what circumstances. Had everything passed off fairly and honourably? And when, then, it became known that the contest had been decided fairly and squarely upon its merits—that gentlemen athletes had met and decided the issue as gentlemen athletes and collegians should do, and were expected to do—the acquiescence was graceful and quiet, tinged merely by the irrepressible and very natural regret that victory had not fallen to the lot of the national oarsmen. Along Broadway especially was the excitement very intense, and the entrances, the vestibules, the offices, the saloons, and the reading-rooms of the hotels were thronged by bustling, hurrying crowds. The rotunda of the Astor House, always a busy place, was unusually crowded, and excited betters, winners and losers, were respectively collecting and "ponying up" the greenbacks.

Heraldic painters are remarkably expert at inventing extravagant attitudes for their zoological emblems, but the greatest artist in that peculiar line would fail miserably were he to attempt to depict the British lion as he appeared yesterday. The noble brute roared himself hoarse, each particular hair of his mane erected itself in triumph; the pride of victory which inflated his internal regions actually gleamed and glistened through his tawny skin; and his caudal appendage—the principal index of his emotions—was curled up so tightly by frequent convulsions of joy that he couldn't for the life of him keep his hind paws on the ground two minutes together. In fact, the lion was so excessively rampant that the last demonstrative unicorn got scared, and drew in his horn. There is always more or less of the "sport" in your genuine Britisher, and as, according to all accounts, the race of yesterday was in every way fair, it is no more than natural that our Old Country cousins should indulge in joyful demonstration at the result. The various houses of entertainment in this city where Britishers most do congregate were extensively patronised yesterday, and countless dozens of "bit-ah bee-ah" were quaffed in honour of the victors in the great international boat race, and in admiration of the pluck and prowess of their gallant opponents. Praise was generously accorded to the Harvard boys for the bold manner in which they had thrown down the glove, and the heroic struggle they had made to tear the laurels from the champions of the Thames. The great and almost insuperable disadvantages under which the American crew contended were not only generally acknowledged, but in many instances regretted; and great surprise was expressed by the English rowing men on this side who are familiar with the course at the closeness of the contest. The knowing ones had been under the impression that the English crew would win by a dozen lengths at least.

THE N. S. W. RIFLE ASSOCIATION MATCHES.—The Kiama Independent says the fun and wholesome excitement accompanying the contests, with the stimulus they afford to military spirit among the various corps of the Volunteer force, will doubtless constitute attraction enough to bring a large number of Volunteers from every part of the colony where a company has been formed. The corps of the southern coast districts are likely to be well represented; and we hope that some of our friends may have the good fortune to bring back trophies of their skill and prowess in the competition.

THE Wheekblad voor Israelieten, a Dutch Jewish paper, reports that a Jewish lady in her hundredth year recently visited the Amsterdam Exhibition, accompanied by her grandson, who was himself a grandfather. She inspected a sewing-machine and threaded a needle without the aid of spectacles.—Jewish Chronicle.

INTERESTING DISCOVERIES AT ROME.—The excavations in the Farnese Gardens on Mount Palatine, the property of Napoleon III., have brought to light some of the ground chambers of a senatorial house, which, having been built into the foundation of the Palace of Tiberius, is pronounced to date from the Republic. The walls are embellished with beautiful frescoes, which proves that the Romans of that period had attained great excellence in the art of ornamentation.

THE RICH QUARTZ REEF NEAR SOFALA.—A correspondent of the Bathurst Times writes:—The lately discovered quartz Reef at Spring Creek, near Sofala, has surpassed in richness all expectation. The reef was discovered about six weeks ago by Messrs. Westphal and Williams, and is situated about two-and-a-half miles from Sofala, and three-quarters of a mile from the old reef, at Spring Creek. The present owners—Messrs. H. Westphal, T. Williams, Joseph Williams, and J. White—have sunk a shaft to the depth of 35 feet, and are now raising exceedingly rich stone. The reef, when first struck, was only about one inch thick, but has since widened out to eight inches, with the prospect of a still greater width, and is easily worked without powder and fuze. About six tons of quartz are at grass, and I have never seen any stone of such richness. One cannot pick up a single piece, that is not almost entirely dusted over with gold, but also full of it in the solid, and I should not be at all surprised if this reef will not throw in the shade even the once famous Box Ridge. The heaps of stone, after a shower of rain, are almost dazzling to the sight.

THE ACCIDENT TO MRS. STEELE.—The Melbourne Argus of Monday says that Mrs. Steele is progressing favourably, though, from the condition of the wound, it is not likely that she will appear for some days yet. It is now ascertained that the sword had penetrated about five inches, and though the track of the wound is confined to the muscles of the back, it is accompanied by a great deal of pain and tenderness, so that rest is imperatively required. The constitutional symptoms have, however, subsided, and on Saturday night, for the first time since the accident, Mrs. Steele slept soundly, and yesterday felt much refreshed in consequence.

CHRIST CHURCH SCHOOLROOM.—There was a good attendance of children on Thursday evening in Christ Church schoolroom, to witness an exhibition of dissolving views, illustrative of various subjects, and including astronomy and natural history. Views of cities of ancient times were shown, and their histories as well as of the nations to which they belonged, were graphically described by Mr. W. L. Jones, R.A.A. He further gave a concise description of the improvements latterly made in the art of photography, and exemplified his words by a few interesting experiments. The entertainment, which appeared to have edified and amused the juveniles very much, was brought to a close at a seasonable hour in the evening.

At a meeting of the representatives of the various Marine Insurance Offices doing business in Sydney met to consider the subject of insurance by ships carrying New Zealand Flax on board—

It is, however, their opinion, that if proper care be taken to have it perfectly cleaned,—shipped quite dry,—and stowed between decks, the offices will be justified in taking it at the usual rates,—provided that due notice be given of each shipment, to enable the surveyors to inspect and report on it."

(erected at a cost of over £10,000.)
carried on for the last 15 years by Messrs. Cowan and Israel, and only relinquished in consequence of the ill-health of one of the partners.

On the Ground (about 150 ACRES WITH NEARLY A MILE FRONTAGE to the BAY) is erected
A magnificent range of buildings 300 feet long, viz:—
The SOAP HOUSE fitted with 3 large soap coppers, each 20 feet deep by 36 feet in circumference, producing 20 tons of soap each boiling.
There is also another copper same size not erected, three smaller ones about 8 tons each, not erected; a large number of iron pans and receivers, lee pumps and 55 iron soap frames, each holding about 11 cwt.; and every requisite for carrying on the manufacture of soap on an extensive scale.
The Coppers are worked by steam coils, on the most improved modern principles, supplied from two large flue boilers, one of 30 and one of 15 horse-power. There is also a spare 15 horse-power boiler not erected. These BOILERS ALSO SUPPLY STEAM TO THE BOILING DOWN APPARATUS capable of boiling 2000 sheep per week, consisting of 4 large steam cylinders and jacket refining pan, fitted up regardless of cost, with steam pipes, &c., ready for immediate use.
There is also a large stockyard for cattle adjoining.
The CANDLE FACTORY contains three large copper pans, each one ton, fitted up in the most approved manner, and about 200 candle frames, three patent candle machines, a large number of copper receivers, together with every requisite for candle making.

BRADLEY, NEWTON, and LAMB have been favoured with instructions from Messrs. Cowan and Israel to sell by auction, at the Australian Auction Rooms, O'Connell-street, Sydney, N.S.W., on WEDNESDAY, November 17th, at 12 o'clock,
The above magnificent property.

In directing the attention of capitalists and business men to this opportunity of obtaining premises unrivalled in the Southern hemisphere suitable for any manufacture, the auctioneers beg to impress upon them many advantages this property affords, more especially for meat preserving and boiling-down, and amongst others that of being allowed to slaughter on the premises, a privilege enjoyed by no other establishment in Sydney. They would also direct attention to the innumerable flocks of sheep that must be boiled down this season. In conclusion, the auctioneers are of opinion that these works, energetically carried on, would repay the outlay in one season, and as an investment cannot fail to return a handsome income to the purchaser.
For cards to view apply at the Rooms of the Auctioneers.

☞ A complete descriptional advertisement of the above property would occupy so much space, that the auctioneers at present feel restrained to limit the publication of its particulars to the barest outline. In a future advertisement they purpose to supply some additional information, as well as to furnish a short history of the rise and progress of the Fitzroy Iron Mines from their discovery to the present time. In the meantime they will be happy to afford intending purchasers every information concerning the property upon application at the Rooms. They now confine themselves by drawing attention to the fact that this valuable property is in the market for bona fide sale, and will be unreservedly realised under the hammer at the date to be hereafter fixed. This course is pursued in consequence of the present company not being so constituted as to carry on the property to a successful issue, and hence the determination of the shareholders to wind up the affairs of the company in the above-mentioned manner.

With 2500 Head CATTLE, more or less.

Terms:—One half cash upon the fall of the hammer; residue by promissory notes at twelve and twenty-four months, bearing eight per cent. interest, secured over stations and stock.

Those magnificent and advantageously situated stations,
MICKIBIL, and GORMAN'S HILL.

MICKIBIL has a frontage to the LACHLAN RIVER of 8 miles by 6 miles back, and embraces some of the richest pastoral land in the colony, and is intersected about 5 miles back from the river by the WALLAROI CREEK, which runs right through the run, the immense advantages of which are too apparent to need special comment here.

GORMAN'S HILL is about 10 miles back from the creek above mentioned, and is 5 miles by 7. On this block all the PERMANENT WATER in that neighbourhood is situated; and as this was the first of the back blocks taken up, it was chosen by Mr. Lee as the very pick of this highly-favoured district, both on account of the abundance of the water and its marvellous richness in grass and herbage.

With this truly valuable property will be sold 2500 head cattle, more or less, respecting which it should be particularly noticed that their ages will be from TWO YEARS old and upwards. Thus the buyer will get all grown cattle, instead of having to pay for mere calves, as is usually the case. The whole will be mustered and delivered.

The IMPROVEMENTS are all that could be desired on a station of this character, and include everything requisite for the efficient working of the run.

It is seldom a station is put into the market combining so many and important advantages as this, being so well situated for commanding both the Melbourne and Sydney markets, having abundant and well-distributed water, being unsurpassed for grazing purposes.

Full particulars may be obtained from HARRISON and JONES, Sydney.
